

Knowing Christ Personally

The Personal Invitation

Preface

I am Jesus, the Christ, who speaks to you through these written words. What you hold in your hands is not just a book but a singular treasure, a personal Invitation I offer you out of My love for you and My intimate knowing of you. This message from Me to you is set with a blessing upon it to move you from just reading words to having a life-changing experience, if you will let it.

I have commissioned the writing of this message because this is the time upon the Earth when My clear instructions must come forth to give birth of a new world, a world prepared to receive Me. I come soon. For this very purpose, I have opened up the necessary Gifts of the Spirit within the precious, humble disciple through whom I relay this message. This entire endeavor is under My supervision and direction.

The fulfillment intended for you cannot be accomplished if you read this as you would any other book. This is not intended just to relay information. It is intended to touch your spirit and enliven your whole being. Every time I repeat something, it is because you need again to be fed the spirit of those words. It is not because you did not read and understand them before. Like the constant nourishment needed for your bodies in which you eat the same food many times, your spirit needs to be fed and nourished by truth again and again, even though you fully digested and gained value from the previous time.

Do not read with the intention just to find out what is said, but instead thoughtfully read every portion; ponder each part carefully, even each sentence. Please read this with prayer every time you begin. With every piece of information ask yourself how it can apply to your life.

Ask what validity this material holds for you. Invite Me to be interactive with your thoughts. When I ask you to stop in the middle of a section to pray or receive a blessing, please do so. Do not rush through this. Read this slowly and conscientiously. The pattern of the world and a tool of Satan is to rush, but living in haste will divert you from your true path Divinely set for your life.

Much of the message will not be new to you, though some of it will be. However, all is intended to be felt and received anew and to bring life and empowerment into you from each thought.

I so desire for you to know Me personally. I desire you to receive the Gift of the Atonement I have for you, to understand it and to develop a close relationship with Me. Even right now ask for a blessing from Me, and I will bring vitality into these words so this message will be the life-changing experience I have intended this to be for you.

Faithful Transcription

This text has been taken from a recorded revelation from Christ. This written format is not a word-for-word transcription, though the original spirit and power of the oral message have been carefully and faithfully preserved on every level in these written words. All has been carefully done with the Lord's constant, guiding direction.

Lord's Way of Teaching

In our earthly culture, a common format for written material is linear, a straight line from point to point until the conclusion is reached. The Lord's way of teaching often uses repetition and extension of thoughts looping back to the original point, somewhat resembling the pattern of a daisy. The center is the main idea; the overlapping petals are like the supporting information presented in loops. The purpose of this format is to reinforce the original concept while adding on small expansions with each loop. This daisy-like format strengthens the central point for the reader and expands his or her understanding.

Liberal Capitalization

In the text, liberal capitalization is used in referring to Deity: Heavenly Parents, Mother, Father, etc. This is done not only to show reverence but also to help clarify the reference to Godhood. Some descriptive words, such as Divine Nature, Holy, and Eternal, which also refer to Deity, are capitalized. Also, the pronouns that refer to only Deity are capitalized: Us, We, He, Our, etc. The pronouns that refer to the combination of Christ and the reader use lower case: we, us, our, etc. We trust this will help clarify.

It is our sincere hope and belief that you, the reader will be as profoundly touched by this life-changing book as we have been.

A Personal Testimony

We come unitedly, as one voice, to offer personal testimony that we ourselves have had such glorious experiences as this book speaks about. We testify in tender humility of the reality of obtaining this close, loving, personal relationship with Christ, which He so freely offers from these pages. He lives! His love for us, personally and individually, is deeper and more exquisite than we can begin to imagine! May we share an unexpected experience of the nature of His perfect, personal love for each one of us?

"Though I have loved our Lord since childhood, I had a pattern of feeling inadequate; I felt I could never be perfect enough to obtain His love. Then one unforgettable day, during a tearful, repentant prayer, I suddenly experienced myself being enfolded in a warm, holy divine love so blissful, so pristine and wondrous as I never could have imagined existed! It caused me to feel utterly cherished and precious, as if every particle of my being was somehow dear and sacred! I felt as pure and delightful as new born babe! My sadness of a moment ago evaporated, as my Lord tenderly infused me with the perfect love of God. I felt flawless! I knew in that moment the reality and nature of our Holy Parents eternal love for each of us. Perfection is what they are! Perfection is all they give forth! Our spirits are born of their Perfection! Christ holds the fullness of their perfect love, which He freely offers to us now. Even in our yet. imperfect and struggling state, He still offers us ALL that He is. His invitation of a personal relationship is real and sweet, O so sweet..."

Christ is our great Redeemer! He loves us without measure! His light is much different than the light of the Holy Spirit; it is more than spiritual guidance and promptings to choose righteousness. He has purchased us. with His eternal love and His own atoning blood! He exchanged His innocence for our guilt! What He offers us is personal change and transformation-His perfect power delivered through His perfect atonement!

Oh let us come daily that He may keep us cleansed and safe-folded. Let us kneel before Him that He may purify our prayers with light, and add dimension and power to our lives through our own personal relationship with the Savior of the world!

With All Glory to God ~

Chapter 1

My Personal Invitation to You

My dear precious friend, I am honored that you are reading this book. Those who will read it are few in this world. You are seeking for something greater than what the world at large seeks. Even those who call after My name do not necessarily seek after Me as diligently as you who read these words. There are many who talk about Me and study My words. I honor them, and I love them all.

I honor you who seek more that you may bring yourself close to Me and that we may have a personal relationship. You bring Me great joy in what you are doing because I cannot do My work with you—the holiest of all that I am about without your open desire to be with Me, to know Me personally. Then I may fill you with such Light, with such divinity, and with such knowledge that you will make a complete transformation in your being.

Few really, relative to all the precious children of God who have lived here upon the earth, have sought for such a level of close communication. It is generally accepted that the great prophets who came before will do that for them, and they are the ones who really come unto God. Then those who don't feel responsible to seek a personal relationship with Me just go about their lives relying upon the prophet's words. But My call is to everyone if they would but hear it.

I Am Calling Out to You

I am calling out to you right now to step forward into a personal relationship with Me. I have always said this in different ways. How would you expect such a call to feel or be like? The way that I work with each person is tailored to each individual. Therefore, it is best not to have any expectations how this call will come about. I know what is best for your development and in what manner I might best relate to you.

Every man is given what is called the Light of Christ, which has various degrees. As you seek Me diligently in your heart, desiring to be close, then I am closer to you, and I am bringing My light and power into you to support and direct you in your life. Those who never seek the heavens in prayer still have the Light of Christ to some degree to guide and direct them. To these people the light is never inaccessible.

The Ways I Work With You

Your heart will open up, and your mind will begin to desire and to question and to ask as you begin to petition in prayer. Then My Light and ability to direct you grows stronger and stronger. Do not diminish the impressions that come to you. I will speak to your mind in such a way that you will hear My voice audibly, or you will get a strong impression which seems like your own thoughts, but they are not. At times it is a feeling that surges through you, and you know that a particular direction is for you. No matter how the impressions come, one way is not better than the other. They come in a manner that is best for you.

As you continue to seek and desire that you have My will in you, then all that you do has My heart, My wisdom, and My Love. In time, this Light, this power, and this ability to connect will become stronger and stronger until we begin to work as one.

You may clearly know that an answer is an impression from God and from Christ. I say God and Christ because the Father and I are one. We are the same. There will be times when you think or know consciously that it is an impression from Me. At other times you may feel yourself being compelled, and you find yourself naturally saying something or being someplace. It does not matter because when you ask, I am with you, and My impressions will also be in you.

Again, the way that you recognize answers may be different. Often when I have given My Light to individuals, they do not consciously recognize that their decision was really a unified decision, theirs and Mine. This happens even when the impression they get is different from what they would have thought to do. They do not see that they actually opened up to My Light when they prayed. People often don't realize they are directed in their decisions and actions by Our divine gifts of support, direction, Love, and wisdom, but they are. When your heart is sincere and you are taking time to pray, I will return and give back to you My personal divine energy: My Light, My Love, My care, My wisdom, and My direction.

How To Recognize My Presence

There are different ways that you can increase this capacity to recognize that I am with you. Right now you might not recognize that the flow of Our Love is with encing and directing you in the very manner that you have asked. you, influ-

First, I would ask you to trust and accept that many things you do are by My will combined with yours, by My Light with your light, My Mind with your mind, My Love and heart with your love and heart. When you trust, things just happen to work out. Then you might begin to see the fruits of your actions, of being in the right place or saying the right thing. "Right" is not necessarily always the best word to use. My promise is that My impression upon you will bring the greatest joy and wisdom and give the greatest return. Also I bring to you what you desire because you have asked Me for help or direction. I always will because that is who I am.

When you simply begin to trust, and you ask—I am there. When you take the first step and ask—I am there! I am always there beside you. My Light is there to give you extra empowerment, extra wisdom, or even a turn in direction, a turn in thought. This comes when you ask, without exception. Sometimes you might think: Well, I prayed for this, and it did not happen the way I perceived it would.

Continue to pray, continue to ask and trust that even though it may not have turned out the way you thought, what has taken place is most perfect for what is next.

For example, you asked specifically for a relationship to be harmonious. You have prayed about having a conversation with this person. You have asked Me to be with you, but the conversation went a little rough.

You may think: Well then, God was not with me on this. But I was. Sometimes when I allow and even support a rough conversation, I am leaving it open for you to step back and reflect in order to see your part in what was said. For example, you have certain patterns in you and certain ways that you interact with this person. So the conversation did not go the way you wanted it to go, it still seemed a little rough, and it did not seem to flow.

Continue to be with Me and reflect upon the situation. I will bring into your mind and heart an awareness that you did not have before. The issue may be something that you would not necessarily see for yourself if you had not asked and if I had not revealed something that you had not considered before. A natural realization comes: Now that I think about it, I realize that perhaps I was being a little too assertive. Then a new thought comes: Perhaps I do not need to assert anything. Perhaps I need to just present my thoughts and trust that the person will hear.

Sometimes when you have a strong desire for someone to hear you, your energy and intent is to insist that you be heard. You are so anxious to be understood that you put forth a forceful energy. At first you might not that you are forcing anyone by your energized presentation. Though you are not conscious of it, the other person will put up a wall of defense against a possible invasion of agency or of being forced to think the way you would like him to think. Yet, all you want is for him to understand your thought, so you present it in a strong, intense manner.

As you reflect and say: You know, I felt very threatened that he would not hear me. I felt very insecure. Come back in prayer again, and we'll discuss further, and you reflect; then you pray with Me again. Then when you have another conversation, it may have a very different flavor to it. It may be completely from a different angle. You may find it still feels rough, but this is a complicated situation to handle, so again, reflect with Me. I have been with you and I have been prompting you with words and even helping you to change your energy pattern.

I give you prompting to bring it up so that you may look and reflect with Me again. I want you to see how things can be adjusted and tweaked and turned one way or another until, eventually, you find a way of presenting, listening, hearing, and relating in such a manner that you feel at peace. You feel you were clear with how you presented things. New thoughts of how to present an idea now come to you. New thoughts you never had before come to you because you have stayed with Me and have practiced moving through this beautiful relationship and letting it blossom. When you come forth and present your very best in the relationship, that relationship will become the very best it can be.

Now it may be that even though you have presented your very best, this relationship may never flourish fully. It is not really compatible because the other person has different goals or lifestyle and intends to go in a different direction in life. Even though you may have wanted it to be a close relationship, you will begin to be at peace in realizing that the relationship is only going to come to a certain level of closeness because you are in different places in life. You will become more peaceful with this as we continue to work on it. You may recognize this is a relationship in which you sometimes relate with each other, and sometimes you go through a period in which you do not relate much. Perhaps your two paths will separate.

I Am Absolutely There With You

I bring forth this as an example for you to realize that when you ask, I am there. I am absolutely there with you. This is what a personal relationship with Me is like. We work through things. I do not come into the relationship to guarantee that all things will flow well. They are done, yes, with My power and almost without your knowing because I want you to learn. I want you also to understand yourself and your relationships, so I will illuminate your mind with a new thought. I will open up your eyes to see that which you have not seen before. I will empower you with peace inside, so you may present from peace. I will give you new thoughts and principles to consider. I will be with you and exercise My energies right alongside yours so that together we work through all of life. I do not leave you alone, neither do I take over and say: Hold on! I will do it all for you.

At the same time, it is all of My power working with your power. The more you open up and trust, the more I may then place impressions upon you. Again, it may not be with a clear, audible voice, but My words are flowing through you. I promise that I am with you. I have created this book for you because I want you to identify, understand, and recognize more where I am with you, when I am with you, and how I am with you. When you recognize what is taking place, you are then willing to step forward. and have it grow and expand to further levels so that you are more and more sure. You can sense it. You can feel an impulse when brand new thoughts burst into your mind. at the very moment you are speaking. You are inspired by these thoughts! They are new to you, and you come to recognize they are the personal revelations that come from Me working with you.

For some individuals who have prayed and asked, I bring forth in the very moment beautiful, wonderful ideas that flow through them as they are speaking and presenting. They know that it is a new idea, something they have not considered before. When they are finished, they sit back and think: Wow! I did a pretty good job. They pat themselves on the back because it was wonderful; yet they do not recognize I had been with them. It was a together project. They close the door to the sweetness of our working together by not acknowledging and holding the faith that I would be with them when they asked. They reduce the capacity for Me to continue to work alongside them as openly as I would desire.

I desire very much for you to be open to Me and for you to look at your life to learn to understand it and see yourself. As you pray and are open, I will help illuminate you so you begin to recognize what is taking place. When you speak again and move forward into activity, you will have an impulse. I will bring My Light into you. If I know that it is wiser for you to move a little bit more to the left or for you to say something a little different, I will be there. Your words will flow forth, weaving together with My words in My creating with you, guiding and directing you. It is a together thing, and it is to be active in every moment, day after day. Yes, every moment I want to be with you. I want to send energies into you, so I need you to be open to it also.

Often individuals will pray very intently. They will call to the heavens. They will call to Father and ask fervently. When they are done, they close without recognizing His vital part in the outcome. Though they came to place their question, their desire, or their burden before God, they rise up from their prayer, pick up the problem and are burdened again as they leave. They take the responsibility fully back upon themselves, and they go away thinking: Well, I am going to have to figure this out alone. It might not be a conscious thought that runs through their minds, but nevertheless, that is what takes place. They close off as they are done with the prayer. Their saying amen means: OK, now I am back to thinking the way I did before. I am not thinking about teamwork with God.

My Personal Invitation to You

I am inviting you to come and have a personal relationship. in which I am with you in every moment of your day. That we, yes, have ongoing conversations throughout the day by just your bringing conscious thought to Me, to the heavens, and to God. I will be with you. But even in the moments that your mind is focused upon something else, I am still with you. That is what I desire. When you invite Me into your sacred morning prayer, I desire that you feel it to be an all-day prayer, one which does not end or close with amen. It stays open between us all day.

When you hold this awareness and you turn your attention to the project or the person or whatever it is that you are doing, you trust that I am still with you. When you acknowledge My hand in your day and give Me gratitude and acknowledgment and leave yourself open, in time you will become much more cognizant of where I am with you. Yet, when I do bring you an inspired new thought, impression, or guidance, when I do answer your prayer and bring you the solution when you pray for something that you need, sometimes that help or answer is not recognized.

When I open up a flow of energy to support money coming unto you, the money comes and you think: Oh thanks, God, I did not need your help after all. Someone paid me something from a long time ago. That severs the closeness from that stronger, more powerful relationship I so freely offer to you. Again, it is always there to some degree. Every man has My Light within him.

When You Ask, I Am There!

When you listen and are seeking a close personal relationship with the Father and Me, you will also experience greater righteousness in your life. Yet, when I give forth. specific guidance, direction, and power to you, and you do not recognize when I answer your prayer, you limit what and when I can give to you, though I would like to give you greater. I would like you to always acknowledge My part. When you ask, I am there! Then you return and thank Me and that gratitude allows the opening through which I can give forth even greater, so that My "Light of Christ" is so powerful and so strong that you and I work together always! Your life moves forward rapidly, and flows easily.

Some situations may seem "rough" for a period of time while we learn to go forward and smooth them out. If it is something that you are working on in your personal behavioral patterns, then we will take it forward, and I will show you how we will work together until it becomes better and better. You then take upon you the beautiful qualities and the ways of your being that you want and desire so much. These become established in you as you are continually close, grateful, asking in faith, and acknowledging. Even just acknowledging keeps you open to see more. clearly that I have been with you. Oh, how I desire to work with you.

Empowered In Every Moment

I greatly desire for you to feel My presence so strongly that you know, in every moment, that you are being empowered in what you do and in how you think and feel. It is the very best and highest that is to be brought forth with both of us together at that moment. I am with you and you know it and you feel it. You feel a constant inner stability of peace even in moments when you have a wide variety of other emotions, perhaps excitement or a little bit of curiosity or even a little bit of anxiety. Even under the anxiety there is the calm in knowing I am with you. I am with you, and I am giving to you. I am feeding you. I am nourishing you. I am empowering you. I am enlightening you. I am teaching you. I am opening up in you.

I ask you to believe, trust, and be aware that I am there and that what is taking place is exactly what is best for your growth and development. At times when you feel stuck, you may think: We have been going over this topic quite a bit lately, and I don't seem to be moving forward at all. The situation is not smooth at all. I am not having any new awareness. Nothing seems to be changing. It is the same thing over and over again. This means that you are closed off someplace.

When these thoughts come, the two of us need to have more penetrating time talking things through, so that I may carefully take you into places inside that you do not see. These places may be deeply hidden and tender, so this will take some time. We will have to gently pull back one thought after another until there is a perfect knowing and until you have the capacity to see what you have not discovered before. In that realization, we can begin to move forward into the deeper places inside that will make changes strong in you. Then the outward circumstances begin to become new, and we won't need to go over the same information again and again.

More Concentrated Holy Prayer

Even though relationships are often a topic of concern, I receive a lot of prayers about finances. If your finances seem stuck, then we need to have some deeper and more concentrated time in holy prayer, reflection, and a readiness to receive. It may take several sessions because you may only be able to open in a small way each time. This topic of finances is usually deeply closed off because of some old emotional pain, misunderstandings, and false concepts.

So we may begin with one small opening or awareness. You and I may discuss this issue for several hours. You think things through with Me. As you are quiet and sit and wait, a new thought will come into your mind. It may just be one small thought. Ah, but it is vital. That small opening is necessary because it will grow. At the end of our time, you express your gratitude for that new little thought, and through your gratitude, that small opening will grow and become wider. Not only will it become more, but it will also lead to the next bigger discovery as we weave through many thoughts, emotions, and experiences concerning finances.

You will not consciously see the whole solution or feel the needed changes all at once, but there is enough to effectively make internal changes in your feelings, thoughts, old beliefs and patterns that are etched into your physical being by your experiences. Then we will be ready for greater changes. Sometimes it is like a building that has to be completely renovated. We have to clean out all the old before we can add the new paint and carpet, the new furniture and accessories, and make it the beautiful and glorious place that we want it to be. We have to take out a lot of things, clear things up, move things out, and rearrange what is there. We are ready to begin to bring in the new and the beautiful and then we move in and enjoy the new creation.

It is quite a course, but this is the beginning. Stay with Me, and we will continue to work on your desires of feeling close and trusting even when you are not aware of what took place. Be trusting with this thought: I asked; therefore, He was there. I do not know how He showed up. Just trust and acknowledge that I will always be there with you and express your gratitude, which will work upon you until you are even more aware of My presence. As you follow these steps and have many conversations with Me, you will recognize your progress and know that your thoughts and My thoughts work together to empower and enlighten you. As a result the divine power will increase in you.

Feel Me and Know My Thoughts

It is My intent that you feel Me and know My thoughts. Eventually you are not going to know if the thoughts are Mine or yours because they are the same. In other words, you have become so open to Me that your thoughts and My thoughts are melded together to be one thought. They are brought together through the choices that you make, the actions that you take. The feelings that you have within you are both yours and Mine brought together as one new entity-the whole new life.

Again, I remind you, when you come to know Me in this manner, you will feel a constant inner calm, a stability, and support. Sometimes, however, you may feel a bit anxious in a new situation or in expressing a new thought to someone. You don't know what the reaction will be. It could have either a strong negative or a positive effect, and you feel a little worried. At the same moment, you stop and become aware of Me, and you will feel My inner strength. I desire for you to feel and recognize that I am there right inside and underneath the nervousness which results from being unsure.

I am there to support you as the nervousness and anxiety fade away. In its place will be a calm knowing that I am there. Even though you have no idea what you are going to say or how things are going to turn out, the inner peace, the security, and the support become so strong that you will not waver or doubt. You just know it will go well. The parts you have needed will be there no matter what they are. You will feel calm, and this calm will grow and become strong and powerful in you. This is the beginning step. Is this all that it will be? It can be so much more! It can be profound and so distinct in your life, so joyful, so sweet, so wonderful, and so uplifting. At this point you cannot comprehend just how strong this way of our interfacing can be! It is very powerful!

You Literally Stand Before Me

Now, what are some other ways that I desire for you to feel and know My presence? I desire that you know Me personally in every way. If I am the whole being that I am, I am also voice, so I desire that you may hear Me. I desire that you may touch and feel Me. This is where I want our relationship to go. I invite everyone to come unto Me. When you literally come unto Me, you stand before Me in form. Then I invite you to see Me, hear My word, and reach out and feel Me. This is what I truly offer to every- one.

You Will See Me One Day

So, I must prepare your being. These things that I have spoken about are the preparations, and they can be very powerful and very strong in your life. How is it that you will see Me one day? Perhaps it will be in a moment when you are praying, and an image will come into your mind. It might not be very clear, but you will sense that it is Me.

You will have begun to become closer and closer to acknowledging that you trust that I am there.

Continue working with Me and speaking to Me and allowing impressions to be recognized as My thoughts in your thoughts, My heart in your heart. As you do this, there will be days when you may feel that if you reached out your hand, you could touch Me.

Perhaps it would not feel as strong as touching someone's physical body, but it will definitely be an impression that something is there putting pressure and warmth on your hand. You feel a light touch, which can become stronger. Perhaps one day you will feel something like an arm around you. These are the beginning impressions. This is the progression. This is your coming unto Me. Our connection becomes stronger and stronger so that you begin to receive into your physical being a vibration that builds. When strong enough, the physical body registers the connection, so that when you "hear My voice," you know that it is My thoughts in your thoughts.

Sometimes people do not recognize when I place a thought in their mind. They say it is only their mind at work. I ask you to at least open up to the possibility that it may be your thought inspired by Mine. Believe, be grateful, and follow through with the thought. That is the beginning. Will there be times when you may think that your thought is My thought, when it was really just yours? Yes, and that is fine because I will continue to give you enough experiences that after a while you will identify the difference. Eventually, it won't make any difference because it. will be our thought. We either have exactly the same. thought, or your thought and My thought come together and create the combination of it.

Waves of Energy From Me to You

As you continue, you allow your physical body to experience more and more of My energy. Soon your physical body will begin to sense images in your mind, thoughts in your mind, sensations on and inside your body. These sensations are waves of energy from Me that enter into you. You will feel a tingling or a sensation of movement. You are feeling My presence because My physical body vibrates at a higher rate than yours does, and I am able to send My body vibration into yours, so that you feel it. This indicates that we have become one.

This prepares your physical body for more and more of My close presence. Why would this be something that you would desire? Because the greatest of the gifts I have to give to you can then be given in this manner until eventually you see Me very clearly in a vision or in a visitation standing before you.

More and more your growing closer expands within you. I desire this because that is the place where I can give you the greatest of the gifts I have to give to you. This is the day. This is the time in your earth life when this closeness is not only offered but will be experienced in greater and greater portions. I am lifting this world up to a new world, a new vibration, a new way of being, a higher order of light and Love and law.

It will not be like the world that has been. I will come again upon this earth; the time is not far away. You will probably be here at that time. If that is to be, then you will be prepared physically to be in My presence. I am preparing many now for this before I descend from My heavenly home to this earth and remain here.

We are to prepare together for that event by having you come and know Me, know My presence in you, know My mind in you, know My heart and feelings in you. Furthermore, you are to feel Me physically and vibrationally. You are to feel Me by touch, by impressions, and promptings. These will all be stronger than you have ever had before until you are clear and sure that I am constantly with you in everything that you do. This surety brings you an inner peace, stability, and support at all times. Then there is no worry.

Eventually there will be no place for worry or anxiety. Perhaps at first there will be times when you will feel one emotion on top of the other. Stop and pause to remember that I am with you.

When you feel anxious after you have offered up your prayer and asked Me to be with you, stop! Be still, and then look underneath and around the anxiety and say: What else is there? Actually, I feel very calm. I do not know how this is. It is a whole new experience for me. However, deep inside I know everything is going to be fine, and my Lord is with me. I am feeling the inner calm.

When you become aware of your inner calmness, it will grow so that your mind will not wander back to the nervousness, the worry, or the anxiety. The negative emotions will dissipate as you allow My light to continue to fill you and support you.

I have many things to teach you about how I work, how I am with you, what you may do to come forward and to know Me personally, and to know that you know Me, not just think you know Me. I want you to come to the point you are sure; that you do not doubt. With this will come a great dismissal of the concern of your own personal worth, the doubt of your divinity. Your understanding of your greatness on this earth will morph into a knowing.

The Foundation

This is the foundation. I invite you to ponder these words again. Contemplate them, be prayerful about them, and ask Me. Let these words become alive in you so that your conscious mind is not monitoring all the time. My power naturally flows out of you. We are working toward the divine nature of yours and the divine nature of Mine to be so powerful in your life that they fill your physical being. Then your natural responses will come from and are part of recognizing, feeling, and knowing that I am with you. You will enjoy a close, personal relationship with Me, knowing My ways, My thoughts, and My feelings about you and the world around you.

So let us have more time together this week. Let us be very clear about gathering together and knowing and trusting. When you ask, I am there. Trust that no matter how the circumstance rolls forth, I am there guiding you through. Yes, sometimes at the beginning, the process will be a bit rough, but as we feel and learn together, the process will flow more smoothly.

When the relationship becomes glorious-at least at its peak of what it can be-we are moving forward to better relationships. These relationships are truly matched to where you are. We are walking along the same course with all the circumstances in your life concerning your work, your employment, and your financial situations. I am aware of all that. That is of great importance to Me al- SO.

I have individuals who have thoughts that they would love to ask, so they pray for help and support. Yet, at the same time, they feel their questions are worldly, and perhaps they should not ask or share. Others ask for help and then take the whole burden back.

Remember, it is also My desire to have your problems resolved that involve patterns of behavior in relationships or with issues concerning your personal spiritual growth. It is all a concern to Me. Any time you ask, I will say: Let us explore this further. It is of worth. If it is part of your life, it is important. This is concerning all situations where you have problems or areas where you know you want changes, improvements, growth, and expansion.

I want you to know how to work closely with Me. If I am to deliver the fullness of the gift of the Atonement, which I desire to do, it comes because we have a personal relationship, and that you know that I am there. I become real to you. My love goes out at all times. I am present with everyone. My desire is to expand My presence, My light in you, so that it is a strong vibrating influence. Then it becomes a profound power in your life, a closeness that you feel until we have close, intimate conversations, discussions back and forth- your thoughts and My thoughts- so you know I am always with you. Then you come and learn with Me until you are ready to stand fully in My presence. Please, I invite you to come unto Me all the way forward. Come and stand before Me. Come and let Me stand with you, every moment, every day until you feel the fullness therein. Come and be with Me.

Always Begin With LOVE

My dear precious one, how grateful I am that you are reading this, taking time out of the world that seems to demand your attention constantly in many different areas. The time in which you live is blessed by modern conveniences that allow you to have more free time, more discretionary time, which also requires you to make wise decisions in its use as you move forward in those things you desire to do. This requires a lot of attention and focus. You are attempting to maintain many things: your family, your business, your occupation, and other meaningful and worthwhile pursuits. Generations before you have never even considered how to use free time effectively because they did not have that kind of challenge.

There are moments when you take upon yourself so much that it seems to consume you. Then you begin to believe that if you do not pay full attention to this multitude of demands, great consequences will come upon you, which in turn causes a great deal of stress for you.

I am going to talk about this stress. When you give a great deal of attention to all these demands and activities, the outward voice becomes louder than your own inward wisdom. You find yourself making decisions based on all the requests from others, society, your businesses, from all that you are involved in. The world's voices are demanding and insistent. Other times they are so subtle, and you may not recognize them as demands, but they are. You have a great desire to do things in righteousness, to live a good and honest life, to accomplish everything that you feel is right and good. That is what you should be doing.

On top of that, you want to be a good parent, good spouse, good employee, good employer, good financial provider, good in your contribution to society, and good in your devotion to your church, your spiritual organizations. You want...you want...I could go on and on with good endeavors to which you want to contribute. You see all of them as valuable. But at the same time, all this "goodness" is pulling at your internal true knowing, and you begin to sense that your decisions have never really been your own.

Stress Based Decisions

You make decisions based on the amount of stress a decision will cause. You do things out of honor and duty to your obligations and to the many tasks you take upon yourself as part of your life. However, I am asking you to please be aware that though these considerations have place, in order for you to understand My ways-the heavenly ways, the new order that We in the heavens are establishing with you-you must set aside making decisions in that manner. When you do it by honor alone-and I do not dismiss honor-something is missing. You must turn to a new way of making decisions that is much more complete, more honorable, more enriching to your soul, and creates more peace.

A greater way to choose to do something is out of your love, out of the offering of your heart more than out of duty. Of course you love your children, but when automatic responses take over, you fall into a duty mentality: I must do this as a parent. I must do this as the leader. This is what I must do.

Love Graces and Refines Your Service

People often serve each other and even God out of obligation. There is no lasting joy and love for what they do because the very demands seem to reduce any love that could have graced and refined their service. In other words, when you experience great stress by trying to accomplish things out of obligation, interacting with the demands of the home and children in the same way, the feeling of love diminishes and duty takes over. Your responses come out of your sense of duty, even for your spouse. You do so because, after all, that would be honorable to the marriage.

But love has been drained from you because it has been used up. Love has been depleted by duty, by tasks, and by the obligations which are given to you and demanded of you. Therefore, you choose and yield to what the outside world requires, requests, and demands. Please, understand I do not discredit this in the least. I do not come with any condemnation for those who are being dutiful in their jobs to provide for their families and to covenants and commitment to their marriage.

However, I would like to be very clear about our relationship-yours and mine-for I am your Savior and Redeemer out of My Love for you! I am the mediator between Heaven and Earth. I am here to bring forth the divine, pure, heavenly way, the way of our Heavenly Father and our Heavenly Mother. I come to bring it to you, give it to you, transfer it to you, and connect you to Their pure. Love. My greatest work is to deliver Their cherishing Love to you and have you feel it and know it! My pure work is to gather you up and draw you into My heart, close to Me, and to take you to the Love of our Heavenly Parents. I am that liaison. I am that mediator because of Love.

I am the one to change your earthly life and imbue it with the Love of the heavens so that you are aware of it. Their beautiful Love has always existed, but you don't completely feel it or sense it yet. Mine is not only to deliver that Love but also to open you up to hear My words and feel My presence, and to bring you forward into a place of peace, joy, and love.

When you connect to that which is the pure Love of our Holy Parents above and are filled with that Love, there is a whole new nature to your duty and your choosing out of honor. It becomes sweet and delightful to you. Honor becomes rich and full, without stress. It is to be a connection. Yes, you are veiled and do not remember consciously your heavenly home and your Heavenly Parents, but the knowing is still in you. Your spirit, which is that sacred part of you that is literally of the Mother and the Father-has existed before you came to this earth and exists now in your physical body.

Part of what will give you greater joy and make a difference in the decisions that you make will be this ability to know yourself and the loving being that you are, for in the heavens everything begins with the desire to love. That is the beginning. Our Heavenly Parents do not do all that they do for you merely out of duty. They do it out of their enduring Love for you. You are a joy to them. You are not a task to them. You are not just a 'work in progress' which you often prefer to think in this world. You are their delight, their joy. You are precious to them. You are precious to Me just as you stand this day, just as you are, with all the things that you are able to accomplish, with all the things you have not been able to accomplish, with all the virtues that you have, with all of virtues that are not as strong as you would desire them to be, with all the things that you know, and with all the things you do not know. You are cherished, loved, adored, accepted, and embraced 100% with the Love that We hold for you!

Satan Will Drain You

Much is written throughout all of the Scriptures about the judgment of God, about the laws, the Commandments, but the purpose of these commandments-these laws given by God seems to be misunderstood. Falseness has been taught or assumed. You have been born into a world with a particular level of light, but another part of this world is the dark, distorted nature of the fallen one, Satan. I say fallen because once he was like you, a child of God. But he turned away, denied his birthright, and literally does all that he can to draw away all of God's children so he can consume their light. He wants total dominion, power, and complete control over you. He wants to take away your agency to decide. He will drain you of all joy, love, and peace, and then leave you empty. Satan does this in very subtle ways.

I am going to ask you to read the following information as if it were all brand new. Even though you have read some of this before, please be open to receive it anew without going to previous understandings. I am going to step into the topic a little deeper, so please do not assume you already understand what I am speaking about. Come in complete openness. Please ask your mind not to draw any conclusion, but just gather in what I say. Just receive it even to the end of this chapter. If you do not understand this completely at the end, it will quietly grow within you.

Right now, before you read any further, take a minute to say a little prayer. Ask for My Love to attend you so you hear from your heart, your whole being, and not just from your mind and your thinking. Pray that you are in the spirit of what I am saying. Let My love fill your being. You can also have a conversation with your own spirit, yes, with yourself, your whole self, and say: Let us be very open to receive the Love that exists from our Holy Savior, from our Father and Mother God. It will grow in you so that what read next will seem different. Your ability to comprehend will continue to grow and expand within you.

You Are Created From LOVE

There is a purpose for all of the Commandments that have been given. They are teaching you about holy ways. They are giving you directions, this is true. They are giving you invitations. They are teaching you about life. They are teaching about divine eternal principles. They are teaching about divine eternal law, universal law. But you are not created from that law. You are created from LOVE. Out of Love comes the orderliness that law-the holy ways- provides. You cannot begin with instructions that have no life. Life begins with Love, and then it moves forward into holy form. In other words, life moves from Love to law and commandments, then to principles, and finally to eternal truth. Love is an eternal round! Love is the substance of life. Love is what sustains life. Love, when infused with Law, becomes eternal Truth. Love always increases more Life and more Love!

When you begin with just the instructions and try to construct love out of that beginning point, it will not accomplish what you are really after: fulfillment, joy, family closeness, and peace. For example, if you tried to be a loving parent first from duty and the Commandments of what you believe is the honorable way to be a good parent or spouse, and then by the tasks that you do try to create love for children or spouse, your relationships will be stressful, marriage will be stressful, the relationship with your children will be stressful, and the relationships at work will be stressful. You will then turn your decisions more toward the outward demands of others; then the love that you do have within you will be drained. That may seem backwards. You may say: But I do have love. Yes, you do. It is backwards when you start with your mind in the outward obligation to prove that love through duty, and not from your heart as the beginning point, then it drains the love.

Begin At the Beginning

When we begin with that fulfilling love first—and not begin by trying to figure out how we do just that—then it moves forward in a completely different direction. It moves into the principles which will come back and feed and multiply that love. We must begin at the beginning with your loving, holy, true, divine nature. Remember, your mind is not the first to initiate the things that you create. It is definitely part of the deciding factor, but if you think that all the decisions begin with the mind, without first identifying your true, loving, divine purpose for this creation, you are going to have things in your life that are backwards. You are beginning at the end. You are beginning with the proverbial cart in front of the horse. That does not work to bring you the results of peace, satisfaction, and joy of fulfillment you seek, and it doesn't bring you close to your Holy Parents or to Me.

Often people are so busy trying to obey all of the commandments that there is no joy because they begin by thinking that obedience is first. It is said that, first we must be obedient. I would say to you that first you are to be open and to start with the love that exists within you.

But first these thoughts: Do not conclude yet. Do not assume that you know how to do this. Assume you do not know how to tell your mind all that you have perceived on this topic. Begin by being open. Begin with: I am going to set it way over there to the side, and I am going to come in a whole new way. I am just going to gather in the thoughts and not conclude, and not assume I understand. I am just going to read and receive. Remember you began with a prayerful beginning, asking that you understand with your heart.

The Origin of Stress

The stress comes into your life by you trying to first be obedient so that Heavenly Father will love you. There is so much misunderstanding in this. The Love of the Father- yea even the Holy, Divine God-exists for you outside of and independent of your obedience. This may seem completely contrary to what you have been taught. Trust that your desires to be obedient will be understood anew. Your desire to be honorable and dutiful will come into a new view and a new understanding. So set aside everything that you previously understood and allow Me to give you new thoughts and then receive them into your heart, a place that is sacred and holy and holds the love that you are.

You are made up of love, which is divine essence, the godly substance that you are made from. It exists, but it does not flourish; it does not flow. It does not multiply to the point that you feel fulfilled, satisfied, and peaceful. You are draining that divine essence by trying to begin with the end. Again, by trying to begin with obedience, duty, honor, and obligation, you (your mind) are as if in the driver's seat of your cart trying very hard to accomplish all the things that you must do, expecting the horse (your loving, divine essence), to pull your cart forward from behind!

If you truly take in what I say, your mind is going to have to turn around the thinking process from what it has been. You are going to have to say: I don't understand what He's talking about right now. I don't know what He means. I don't know how to do this. Once in a while, it is good for you to not be able to figure out in your mind what I am talking about. I want you to receive what I am speaking about in words from My Holy Spirit and from the Love that I have for you. All the understanding, a new understanding that you would desire will be in that Love regardless of how you have heard this topic before, regardless of how you think that obedience must be first, regardless of whether or not you believe that you must obey the commandments to prove your love. If you love me, keep my commandments, it is said, but notice that in this scripture Love comes first. So I say unto you, begin first with the love that you are, and then it becomes part of your nature to step forward and to be able to easily live the commandments out of love, not as a duty and obligation.

Coming into Alignment

Obedience means to be in the holy state of being in alignment. When you act out of love, you are in the center, you are aligned, you hold the love of the Father and the Mother and My love. Out of that comes your obedience, which is the holy way, naturally and without stress. You begin to decide out of love and not because of outward demands. You will do whatever you need to do because love is the motivator. You desire naturally, beautifully, and lovingly to care for your children, to care for and be respectful to your spouse, to listen and to hear them because you love them, not because you have to sit and listen or because you just should. That only causes contention and criticism.

How Do I Do This?

As you read this, it is quite possible that your mind will begin to create a bunch of rules and directions on what being loving is like and what it means to start with love. You're going to want instructions on how to do this: Tell me how I am going to do it. I want to know how to do it. When I know in my mind how to be loving, I will do it! On the contrary, you will need to let go of knowing and step into surrendering to not knowing. Surrendering does not mean to give up. It means to give away that which you feel or think for something better. It is to give away your current state of knowing how to come unto Me, knowing how to be obedient, and knowing how to obey the commandments. You have been obedient first because they are commandments and not from the origin of who you are, out of your adoring love. You have been trying to create it backwards. I simply invite you to ask in prayer to feel the love.

Ask that you be opened up so that the love you have begins to be uncovered. This is not something that you can do alone. It is something that I will do in you. The process of uncovering your love involves releasing the duty to keep the commandments and all the other obligations of duty: the obligations others put upon you, the demands, the requests, the stress, the worry, the false concepts, and even the false understanding of the commandments. All these things cover your love and drain your joy, peace, and fulfillment.

If you are sincere and are willing for a period of time to not know, I will go in. You say: But, I have to make decisions every day. This is true. We will not accomplish this in one moment, but in a series of moments as you continue to ask in prayer that I gently push aside the covering in the way that only I can do. Remain in the spirit of sweet surrender and not knowing as I bring unto you experiences that will support and enable us in the pushing aside of this covering. Then you may begin to feel the true love that you are. This love is not just what you do. Neither is it just an emotion, although you will feel it. It is a divine presence. It is the divine essence that you have been from the beginning. It is what our Holy Parents are made of, so it is also the divinity you are made of, and out of this divine essence comes the eternal ways and laws.

Ask to be Open

Ask to be opened up so that you might feel the Love that made you and feel the Love that your Holy Parents and I have for you. Your own criticisms of your great efforts to be more diligent and obedient get in the way. You cover your criticisms with trying to justify: I am just trying to be more diligent. I am trying to be perfect because I want to be obedient to prove my love. Again, you are beginning with the end. You cannot. You must begin at the beginning, and the true beginning isn't just you.

The true beginning is from your Divine God Parents that you have your Holy Mother and Father-who are the origin of you. You came out of Their pure Love, so you are made from that Love; therefore, Their orderliness is in your being. Holy direction and actions come out of that orderliness. You are a being who does good works. You are a being who is in alignment with eternal truth that arranges and rearranges itself according to what will serve best in the moment. I will explain a little further about that.

Many have diligently read the different messages that have come forth. Many have studied the holy Scriptures and read good books that talk about holy and honorable ways. You have put forth much effort, and I honor that in you. I know you do so because love exists inside of you, and your desire to choose righteousness comes out of that love. It does not originate in your mind alone; it comes from your heart, which is your love that comes forth from the Mother and Father.

I am here also. Remember, My purpose is to be the mediator, the connector between the divine holy Love of God, Mother and Father, and where your love exists. I then open you up more, which allows that beautiful power and essence from your Heavenly Parents to merge with your holy divine nature that begins to unfold from within you and express itself. Then that pure Love will flow into your mind, into your emotional desires, and into your physical being, and the orderliness and the obedience will come forth naturally. It will not be constrained and forced by the mind or the emotions, but by the release and expression of your holy true nature, which is a loving, Godly nature-your divine holy love essence. This is the beginning.

Know Your True Self to Know Me

Let us talk about developing our relationship to know Me personally. Remember, in order to know Me personally, you will need to know yourself, your true self, not the outward, constrained actions and decisions that have come from the mind alone. That is the ending point. But this world insists that the mind is the beginning, that it is greater than the heart, and that what you think is what you are. I say the mind is a great influence. It does open doors. It is definitely part of the decision factor. However, decisions begin before the mind decides. Decisions begin in the heart. Decisions begin in your love, and that love begins with the Mother and Father.

My holiest purpose is to open up Their Love in you, so that you feel Their Love and experience Their Love until you know it, not just from the knowing of the mind but a knowing in your whole being that you are divine kind, and that you are cherished and accepted exactly as you are! Love is a growing force. It moves forward into holiness, into the commandments, into holy obedience, into eternal truth. It forms and expresses itself out of that divine origin.

To let this sacred part of you open up requires your desire and your request for My power and My love. I am perfectly one with the Father, and He is in Me, and We are both already in you. Our divine essence, Our mind, Our will, and Our heart-which is in you-needs to be opened up, so that it will rise up and out into your being, into all of you your mind, your body, your emotions, and your will-until we are perfectly one. You cannot know Me without knowing yourself. You cannot know yourself without knowing Me and the Father, for We are in you. Therefore, you cannot accomplish this by yourself, for you are not the beginning. God the Father and the Holy Mother are the beginning. They are One and you are out of them. They are your origin. Their divine, perfect order, which comes out of Their perfect love, is expressed in the holy child that you are-the divine being, the precious offspring of eternal Gods.

Let the Mind Step Aside

As you learn to let your mind step aside and observe, notice, and get ready to receive, then it will be in beautiful alignment and perfect balance. Your ability to live honorably in obedience to all the commandments will then flow. naturally from the origin of the Love of your Holy Parents. I invite you to come and ask that you begin from Their Love. It does not necessarily take long hours. It could, but often in your absolute sincerity, you will admit that you really don't know how to do this, even though you have studied the Scriptures and received good instructions given to you by those who you trust in this world. Although the instruction may be absolutely true, you cannot begin there. You begin from Their Love. You are cherished, loved, adored, accepted, and understood just where you are in this moment.

A little child does not know many things. Their skills and capacities and abilities are very limited, but the parents understand the abilities of a two-year-old or a four-year-old. They do not expect little children to be like adults. In the same manner, your Holy Parents look upon you in your eternal progression. They understand that you are practicing and learning; They are not condemning. Their judgment is a perfect understanding of where you are in your eternal progression. It is like a placement. They have perfect understanding of how to work lovingly with you, moving you forward so that Their Love expands the holy love essence that you are, filling your expressions, your mind, your emotions, your physical body, and your will.

You will be taught anew from the origin of truth, which is Love.

An Entirely New Feeling and Power

You may find yourself doing the same things that you have always done, but they have an entirely new feeling, a new power. This feeling is not stressful, constricting, or limiting. It is life giving! It frees you! It opens you up, and fills you with wisdom until you are filled to capacity. Then it becomes a flowing, peaceful, joyful, natural way of being kind to another, wise in listening to another, understanding another, and being patient with another. You are then filled with the very same patience, love, understanding, kindness, and acceptance that your Holy Parents have for you. You can give it out because you have it in you.

You are even patient, kind, accepting, and loving to yourself. You will still make "mistakes" because you still do not know how to do all things, yet you accept it: I am learning! I am discovering! I am practicing and exercising again and again! I am evolving! Then the destructive spirit of judgment departs. Now you are aware: This is who I am at this point. This is where I am with my learning. This is where I am with my capacities, my skills to do anything, to even be a parent, a spouse, a provider, a nurturer.

You want greater. That is good. But you cannot demand it of yourself. You cannot force it or bring it forth by laws alone and become your own despotic ruler. The power and growth, the natural development, and the improvement that you seek, and all the beautiful things you want to become come from a natural opening up of your divine. origin, of your love-which again comes from your Holy Parents. They are perfect love. You have not yet experienced Their love as fully as We desire to open it up in you. Your part is to come into a state of quiet and still, desiring and asking to experience Their beautiful love in you. This can take a few moments, but if it takes longer, don't give up; you simply begin again.

I have said that when you ask, I am there. I will bring this Love to you and into you. At first it may not seem that you are having the progress that you want. Let go of the judgment and simply trust that We are there. I know how to bring the Love of the Mother and Father fully into your being. It flourishes and brings you wisdom in each moment to know and to make decisions from the holiness in you. With this Holy Love comes the expression of truth, wisdom, and the power to decide, which is refreshingly life-giving and joy-giving! Stress leaves.

Please set aside your belief or your former understanding of what I have just said. Do not draw any conclusions. Instead, ask for a greater understanding to be born out of the origin of Love. Ask that a growing testimony and witness will come to you and grow each day. In other words, you are going to have a little different view, a little different understanding at the end of what I say. It might just be a mild enhancement of what you have already believed. Please accept that you are beginning. Ask that this new way of being be in you, and that I come unto you to open you up, to activate the origin, the Holy Love, the divine

God Love in you. Ask that you go forward from this holy place with My spirit and the spirit of the Father and Mother in you. You will feel both powerful and sweetly humble at the same time.

My Atonement Is Unique and Specific

Be dependent upon Us at this point because you cannot completely make changes by your mind alone. Remember, the dark one said that he did not need God the Father's pure Love. He claimed his mind could manage and direct everything if he just had power over others. To this day, he continues to do everything possible in both subtle and bold ways to convince you to yield to the influence of the demands from outside you and not from the Love inside you.

That is why I say: Seek to know Me personally. I say 'personally' because this is the work I will do uniquely and individually with you. My Atonement and My way of working with you are unique and specific to you. It is not out of a set formula of laws that I try to make you conform to. I will work with you, for I know you. When you allow Me to come in and teach you to know Me, to know yourself, to know truth by filling you with the Love of the Mother and Father and My Love, you will feel a power that is beyond your emotion and beyond your wisdom. Then greater thoughts will rise up within you.

As you continue to stay in the state of not knowing, then you shall know all things from your origin. You shall also praise the heavens above and acknowledge My hand and your Holy Mother and Father's influence in your life. They are your origin. They are your Holy Parents. You have come from Them. You are still of them. You are still being carefully nurtured, adored, appreciated, and accepted as you evolve and grow, developing and expanding naturally. You are constantly in a state of increased Love from which comes all the beautiful, holy acts that you do.

Come to Know the Divine in You

Come to know Me. Come to know Love. Come to know the Father and Mother. Come to know yourself. Come! Come to love all others, to love life, to decide from the wisdom that rises up out of the power and the infinite knowing and the purity that is divine and holy, which is in you. Set old ways aside. Please continue to ask. Allow moments of quiet and still. I will do My holy work in you. Then you will know Me personally.

Live By Our Love in You

My dear, precious one, be still. Let the demands of the outside world quiet themselves or turn a deaf ear for the moment. Just be still that you might know and experience God, who is pure Love. That is My greatest desire, the Father's greatest desire, and in reality-dear one, our precious dear one-this is really your true, divine innate desire also to come and be one with Us to feel, to experience, and to live by Our Love in you. This We will do because Love is what We are.

Chapter 5

The Upward Climb

To know that you are continuing to read and learn brings Me great joy. You have a deep desire to know Me and to know My will. I honor this in you. I give you assurance that as you continue, your desire will come to the fullest fruition and far beyond what you can expect, want, and desire in your life.

This learning is an upward climb, and often you may feel weary from making the diligent effort to apply what you know. It is always upward and doesn't seem to be bringing you the fruits that you desire. Yet, I tell you there will be a point in your climb when you are ready to learn certain things. You are ready and prepared to understand something critical that you have not understood previously. These are moments when thoughts open up to your awareness, and you are then prepared in your heart, mind, and your whole being with a readiness to receive My Light. This will allow you to come to a new opening, a new plateau, from which you have a beautiful view and can see far beyond any previous view you have ever had.

When you are actually climbing a mountain, your view is often limited by the trees and brush, so you cannot see what is waiting for you at the top. Places for rest are provided along the way where you might see a portion of the final view. But when you reach the final plateau, you will receive the promised fruits for which you have been working. Very often the view, the promised fruits, happen at a moment when you least expect them. They are there suddenly when you round a corner. In a spiritual sense, even though you may have felt discouraged, you have continued in your prayers, in your adoration, and in your coming unto Me in every way you know, doing the best that you can to live your life honorably.

In those moments when you feel most victorious and ready to break forth, you expect to notice a difference. Sometimes you may feel a difference and feel exhilarated. At other times it does not come in that moment. This is not something that you need to understand because this does not come by your understanding. There are factors which are known to Me, conditions in your being, conditions of your heart, and your readiness that will be further addressed to become a benefit to you.

Powerful Lessons

Even though you don't understand, part of your walk of faith is to trust what We do. Trust Our timing because We do understand. We in the heavens have a complete understanding of all things necessary to prepare you. We do not leave out any portion of your preparation or your growth and development which will make you ready for each new segment of your life. Life is divided into segments, and We will move you through each segment as you are ready. We have an awareness of what lessons you need next and are very aware of the circumstances in your life. Whether you are conscious of it or not, the circumstances that you have are there for a set purpose. There is something to be learned in exactly what is going on in your life at that point. We are highly aware of the most powerful lessons that can come because of the experiences and the activities going on in your life. The people that you are dealing with at that particular time have something of value to add to your life. Whether it is a short and brief encounter or whether you are involved in a deep, long lasting and frequent association, everyone is valuable to you.

Your holy Heavenly Father orchestrates that much detail. He understands you in perfection, and I also—being one with the Father—understand your life in its perfection. Yet, this understanding does not dictate to you or in any manner constrain or force you into any activity. You are very much in control of your own life with every choice that you make, which moves you one direction or another whether you realize it or not.

Sometimes when you have gone through a particular lesson in life, you need to review it again to make sure that it is secure within you and that you understand it. I have often heard people say: But, I have been through this lesson before. I have already learned this. I say to you: Perhaps it is a repeat, but you need to secure an understanding on some points. Practice and exercising your being in this manner will strengthen you. Sometimes though, in your great desire to move forward with expectations of what you want or what you think you are moving towards, you become more concerned with outward fruits. Sometimes you miss the actual lesson, which is the most precious part of your moving forward.

I Am With You in Every Experience

You are impatient to hear My voice, for example. I look forward to the time when you will clearly know that I speak to you. You will hear My voice, and many will also see Me in the fullness. Your eyes are being prepared that you might view My presence. I will appear to many. Even though this is a grand and glorious moment, it really is no more glorious than when I am with you in every small experience, which is part of the greater.

I am with you every day. I am not just there when you are in prayer. I am not just overseeing you from a distance; I am at your side. Energetically and spiritually I project all that I am, as if I am right next to you. My energy dwells in you. My essence is part of you. It is what sustains you and gives your spirit life. I truly am right at your side. Whether I am there energetically or spiritually, there is no difference. You have prayed and asked, seeking for these things.

Sometimes I am closer than you realize. Your conscious mind has an expectation of what it should be like if I were to walk beside you and actually be there with you. You seem to think that things would be different, and you have expectations about the experience. By those expectations-thinking that it might be in a certain manner-you are actually turning your attention away from the actual awareness to know and feel My presence both subtly and distinctly in your life and to recognize that I am already with you at every moment.

Your Spirit Can Feel My Presence

The moments in your life when you were aware of God the Father, or the Divine above, most likely came when you were in prayer. It could have also been when you were thinking indirectly about Us when you were in a class as someone was reading scriptures and referring to the Savior, or Father in Heaven, or God, or however it was taught to you. Yet I tell you, the level of awareness that you are at right now is much stronger. Your spirit realizes that I am here. Your spirit can feel My presence. I ask you to let go. of all expectations of what you think that might be like. Just allow a knowing that I am here without any outward evidence. This is an important part of how you move forward.

Knowing Me personally is also to know that I influence your, give you support, and power in each moment. As we work together, you will continue to know who is moving you forward in the highest way and manner that would give you clarity, peace, power, and capacity. Then you might be able to completely feel and know that what you are doing at that moment is filled with My Light and with the Light of the Heavens, and you are at your best.

I Walk At Your Side Every Moment

Often the mind begins to be critical and closes the doors to the awareness that I am with you. That is the reason I say to let go of what you think should be the outward evidence because the mind wants to hang onto its own expectation. So let go! Believe and know that I am there. Trust that I am. Hear My words when I say: I walk at your side every moment. It is not just that My light is shining upon you and not just that the connection is from far away; it is a full projection of all that I am as if I stood right next to you. In accepting that I am there, you prepare yourself and open yourself, so that you may be guided by Me.

Though you do not see or hear clearly at that moment, part of trusting is the expansion of your faith to know that I am there. I am giving you impressions, guidance, and direction. There are going to be times when you will definitely say: Certainly the Lord was not inspiring me or being with me at this particular moment. Earlier today when this or that happened, it was such a clumsy experience. I did not feel peace. I did not feel joy in it. I tell you that is not so. I am always at your side in those moments when you may feel clumsy, when you do not feel powerful or are critical of what you have done. You may feel that the circumstances put upon you were very negative, hard, and difficult to endure. I am still very much there. I often walk with you through those difficult times, not taking away the difficulty but sustaining you with My Love.

Sometimes I put impressions into your mind to guide you. Sometimes I do not put impressions into your mind because I want you to respond by your own thinking, by your own choices. But I will feed My Love into you in an extended, increased manner so that you are empowered in the very choice that you make. Maybe you decide later that a choice you made was a poor one. But I say it was good because you could learn that it was a poor choice or a good choice.

As you experience your choice and reflect upon it later, you may feel that your heart desired something greater. You are sensing your divinity inside which wants greatness, wants the higher order, and wants the ways of your heavenly home. Before you came to this earth, you lived in a much fuller way. You have lived with much more orderliness, love, peace, and joy. So as you live your life here, making decisions and having many experiences, you can sense that there is something better. You may begin to desire something greater. You can feel a draw forward.

Encourage Your Child-Body

Part of what you are doing in this earth life is educating your physical body, which is relatively new when compared with your spirit's age, maturity, and development. Your body has to learn. You are like a parent working with a little child. Sometimes you get frustrated and impatient with your body and your mind. You get impatient with your mind when you forget something or don't understand something. But as with a child, you have to be kind, patient, loving, and accepting as your body learns. Encouraging instead of condemning the child-body is very important.

You are learning to manage this physical structure with its emotional patterns and thinking processes. Your brain has responses, habits, and thought patterns that cause you to think in a certain way. You have been taught good things, but your spirit knows yet greater. Allow the wisdom you hold as a wise parent to influence your body. Be tolerant, patient, and careful as you continue to teach your physical being to move forward, to make progress, to act and respond in a higher way that brings you deeper satisfaction.

Furthermore, your physical body is learning how to function physically. You are learning how to balance, when to move forward, when to throw yourself into a demanding project, when to get nourishment and rest, and how to support your body to accomplish something. You may have very deep physical problems, or your body seems like an unruly child who needs to be taught a lot. Maybe it seems like your body has been instructed poorly by generational patterning. Be as patient as you would be with a little child who is struggling to learn. Some children and bodies are easier to teach than others. There is no doubt about that.

Be Patient and Kind with Yourself

Remember, knowing yourself is just as important as knowing Me, because to know Me you must know yourself. We will weave back and forth. I will help you to understand and be patient with yourself—oh, so patient, tolerant, and kind—as you move forward through your different experiences. I am not condemning in any manner, because I understand completely why you respond by disapproving or being very impatient. You may not believe it, but these experiences are helping you to grow.

Your life is well-planned with many places to exercise your agency. You made this plan prior to coming to this earth so that you could have these experiences. This may give you cause to reflect on the choices that you make and the importance of being peaceful and accepting of where you are. It is crucial that you are not judgmental of yourself. I have mentioned this many times. When you come to know Me personally, you will know that I am not critical of what you do. I understand, and I know that every experience is for your good and will teach you. I know some experiences are delightful, others challenging, and others very difficult and unpleasant. Sometimes I will lift that unpleasantness, and other times it is important for you to go through the unpleasantness because it will teach you some very valuable lessons.

You become very impatient at times while learning these lessons. The length of time for these experiences is set with purpose and reason. If you want to be closer to Me, you will need to definitely be closer to yourself. To be closer to yourself requires that you are not judgmental towards yourself. Yes, be aware, keenly aware of what you are doing. The consequences that are coming into your life are often the fruits of the decisions you make, but be not critical. If you are to know Me, you must not be critical. I always understand, and I invite you to understand and be patient with yourself, your body, your patterns, and your thinking.

Please, understand and know that I am always with you. I am at your side giving you the light and the support necessary in the degree most effective for the moment. I do not criticize. I am not condemning those things that you may think are sins. I say to you: Learn value from everything.

Eternal Progression

My judgment—the final judgment—is not harsh. It is filled with Love. It does not come forth with punishment as is often taught. It is a pure, clear understanding, no condemnation at all, of exactly how far you have come in your eternal progression, what you have learned, and where you need to be.

True Judgment

My judgment puts you in a place in which your progression can continue after your earth life experience. Many will stay on earth quite extensively. They will still be here on the earth during the time I come to live here personally. The whole earth will have been transformed no matter where you are. Whether you are lifted up to a heavenly home or stay here upon this beautiful earth to move forward, it does not matter.

You have all eternity to continue to progress. In other words, there is not a final judgment that condemns you. That is a misunderstanding. There is a day of judgment, and you may be upset, but your anguish comes from your own being. But I say unto you: Be not condemning of yourself not then or now. Condemnation only brings you to shame, sorrow, and restricts your growth and expansion.

When you are being harshly criticized or being belittled, your mind will not be able to respond in a good way. You find yourself withdrawing. Your defenses are up. You are hurt and angry. You are not thinking of any creative, highly responsive, beautiful new thoughts that could move you forward beyond the problem. Therefore, I do not condemn. Instead together we look closely at your life and discuss it.

I bring forth awareness into your conscious mind. Your mind may not know that I am bringing an awareness of something you need to notice. I would that you not condemn your behavior but reevaluate it. Seek for My Light that you might see more clearly a way to move forward, bringing greater joy. Whenever I call people to repentance, I am simply coming in to return or turn them to a new way of being, a greater way of being, and to evaluate what they need to understand, what works best, what brings them the greatest joy, and what does not.

Release the Spirit of Criticism

I want you to hear again what I have said because it is very important. Realize again that I am always with you and that the fullness of My presence walks beside you. In order to feel that and to know Me, you must know yourself. To know yourself you must release the spirit of criticism that restricts you, holds you back, does not support you in being creative or hearing My guidance, My inspiration, or feeling My Love. Criticism creates a wall, and it restricts the physical body. It restrains healing. It is not the way to know Me. To know Me and My ways is to understand that I am not critical. I am not judgmental as the world defines that word. Instead, I am highly aware of where you are and what you need.

I am accepting because I know everything is good for your experience and growth. When you understand that even though you have made "an error" or, in other words, you have made a decision and are not pleased with the results, you simply notice and then come with openness that we might then choose a new way. Then you practice and move forward in a holier, different way. Even if you return to that same pattern, you can see more clearly that there are more things to learn here. It is not that you failed. It is not that you have been sent back to the same grade to repeat that course. It is for you to learn more thoroughly and more exactly and precisely how to become stronger and more powerful in whatever it is that you are doing.

Sometimes you may feel very triumphant because you have overcome something. But then in a short period of time you are back again into the old pattern. It is not necessarily that you have done anything wrong. I may have sent you back that you might go through that same course again only to become extremely powerful, strong, and capable in that area. This is particularly true if you have been brought forth with a particular "weakness" in an area in which you are not as strong as you would like to be.

All these things are important so you can know Me personally. Also, let go of what you think it is like to have Me walk beside you. Just know and accept in faith that I am there. I am completely at your side although most believe that We in the heavens are far away. When you say your prayers, oft times there is a quick response, an impression comes into your mind. You may think: Well, this might be an answer.

We Are In Your Presence!

Let us take a moment to help you realize something. If you were projecting a thought through space between where you stand physically and where Heavenly Father and I stand physically, and if that thought were to travel at the speed of light, it would still take a very long time to reach Us. What I am explaining is that We have the capacity to be where We are and, at the same time, to be where you are. We are in you, with you, and at your side. There is no distance! We are with you. We are in your presence!

I want this to sink in. I want you to realize how close We are. There is no separation. We are not someplace far away. The separation only comes in your mind's perception. Your mind is what creates the division by thinking of Us as far away, unreachable, or far beyond. Instead, We are right with you! We are close, personal, and caring. At times it is hard to comprehend how We can give our full attention to each one of you, but We can. You have My full attention because I have received the fullness of the Father who is able to have many conscious thoughts at one moment, even beyond number! Yet, it is not a mass of confusion. It is clear. The only thought I have is to be at your side. This is the capacity of a divine, perfected God, which capacity I hold.

I am not confused about who you are or what is going on in your life because I am right at your side. By My bringing forth My presence, you will begin to open in thought and in your physical being because My energy is flowing through you. Whether it is the fullness of My presence or a full projection of My energies, I stand next to you. If you imagine Me being far away when you are praying or being 'more spiritual', that very thought creates a wall and prevents you from feeling My impressions or My love.

You probably divide your life into segments. During your morning and night prayers, your thoughts go to Me.

At all other times you are busy with obligations and projects and not much thought of Me. Be aware that I am with you in every moment of your day. To know Me personally is to feel My constant presence with you. Know that I am there to support you in exactly the best manner for that moment, whether it is with a distinct thought, comfort to your heart, or simply the support of My Love around you as you go through a difficult moment. My light around you will assist you in being able to learn the most valuable lessons from experiences, no matter what they are.

I Am Never Criticizing You

Let us move forward together in your learning, in your progression, in your exercise and practice of all things. Remember, have an awareness of our closeness no matter what you are doing. Remember also, I never criticize you. There are times when you will be very glad to have Me stand right there. Other times you might think: Oh, I really would rather not know that my Savior is standing right here because I have not behaved very well. I am never critical of your behavior; I am just aware of your weaknesses. I am there to help you learn from your experiences, your decisions, your actions, and from the things going on in your physical body. I am there to support you and take you through everything.

Knowing Christ Personally - The Personal Invitation

Release ALL Self-Criticism

Do all you can to release ALL self-criticism. I understand how deeply the patterns of self-criticism are embedded into the tissues of your physical being from this life's experiences. Yet, I will assist you in removing them. Ask that you might be aware, believe, and have stronger faith to know that I can reduce the spirit of criticism until it does not exist within you. That may take a while. I do not mean years and years. If you are diligent in asking and truly desiring and believing these words, this self-criticism will not be a wall between us anymore. Then, as you continue to ask, you will move out of that criticism pattern.

It is like climbing up a mountain as I work with you. As you climb, I will allow you to work with this criticism pattern. So often you're not even conscious that the thought you just had is critical of your way of being because the pattern is deeply in-grained into the way that you think and believe. The first step is to become aware of it. That is when you feel you are climbing up a very steep mountain. There will be moments of frustration during the climb and then moments of joy. When you feel the release of the pattern, it is no more. That is when you feel highly supported with a sense of confidence in working with Me and feeling our closeness even though you did not distinctly hear My words or actually see Me.

These two senses of hearing and seeing are strong in this world. You rely on these senses for learning. When these senses do not appear in your spiritual experiences as you would like them to, you might think that you somehow are doing something wrong. Not so!

Others, like you, who greatly desire such spiritual experiences, have also had such thoughts. I say to you, they will come. But first, be at peace with where you are. Hold no expectations, just a knowing, and keep walking in the faith that you do have. The level you are at right now is perfectly acceptable. It is exactly where you are to be. It is the perfect moment for whatever you are now going to learn. Know that I am close. Please have the faith to walk forward without personal criticism. These are the two vital and crucial ways for you to be able to come unto Me and to know Me personally.

Three of My Ways

Knowing Me personally means that you know some of My ways. Here are three of them: 1) I am not critical. 2) I do not belittle. 3) I do not judge in the same way the world judges.

Judgment has a partial meaning here in this world. The Heavenly meaning is more than just to discern or to make a decision. It is a kind, loving, gentle awareness of every single factor going on inside and around you, as well as the conditions influencing you. It is a perfect measurement of what you are capable of doing and the best way for you to move forward. That is My judgment: It is Me knowing you. It is My awareness of you. It is My acceptance of you. It is My Love for you. It is My knowing the way that you will progress the most.

Understand Your Body

I will guide you through all things. You are learning much more than you realize. Even though you are progressing, oft times your conscious mind is focused on an area in which you are critical or with which you are not happy. Perhaps there is something that you are very displeased about in your physical body—a health situation or condition in some manner. So you focus upon that. Yet, you have other beautiful ways when we are close. You are accepting. You are growing and developing in a beautiful manner in your awareness that I am right by you.

Your Body Is Like Your Child

Your body is like your child. You are to raise it up without criticism. The more you accept where your body is in its progression of learning, the more it will open to receive Divine Love, guidance, and support. It is then that the body is able to make the progress that it so desires, which is to learn how to function in a much higher way. If you were not in a fallen world, if you had completely received the fullness of the Atoning power that I have to give to you, your physical body would not have gone into the state of deterioration. Not only would it progress from a young child's body into an adult body, but it would progress in Different stages of adulthood to greater and greater capacities.

In this world your mind continues to learn most of the time. But eventually, the mind begins to plateau, takes on less learning, goes with what it has known previously, and begins to deteriorate so that the thinking process actually reverses. That, however, is not the normal pattern of the Divine way. The Divine way is your learning ability continues to increase.

Just as a 20-year-old young man learns much beyond where he was as a 2-year-old when he is 40, his mind has learned so much more. He has matured and experienced more of life, and this gives him the wisdom of that age, twice that of when he was 20. It is the eternal way to continue to increase not only in your mental capacity but also in your physical structure. So in reality when you have none of this fallen nature energy around you at age 40, you are much stronger than when you were 20. There is no deterioration. Therefore, one who is 60 is stronger than at 40, which is stronger than at 20. That is the holy way.

New Life Review

Let us take moment to review My invitation to you and what you may do to support your moving forward: Recognize that I am there. Have no criticism so that you may move forward with Me at your side. It is then that you may receive the fullness of the gift of My Atoning power. So with this fullness your body may be transitioned out of and away from the fallen nature. Your body may become much stronger, without deterioration. That is the Holy way. Then you may receive the Light of a new life.

This is a very difficult thing to do because for generation after generation after generation there has been the belief and the reality of deterioration and death. Very few have transitioned to the point that they have overcome this downward path. In this earth life, this has been accomplished only by those who came forth and believed they could overcome this deterioration and death.

Move Forward In Eternal Progression

I invite you now to move forward in eternal progression. Let go of any expectation of when that will happen or how it will happen. Just hold to the belief that I am with you, guiding you through. Remember, sometimes the climb may seem long and endless. But when you reach that peak you have been heading towards, a wide, new view and vista opens up. You are then able to see far beyond and feel peace, for you realize My presence has been very strong with you. You feel there is no more struggle. You are empowered, lifted up, and are continuing to move forward.

As You Grow, I Do Also

My way is always of increase. I continue to improve and become greater even though I have received the fullness of the Father. I also exercise and practice that which I have known so that I become greater in it and expand. Every time you come to receive the gift that I have to give to you,

I am also increasing. I have seen your life. When I was in the holy Atonement, I did have the experience of living your life with its many experiences and ways of learning. In a sense, this is happening again in reality, you are receiving step-by-step that which has been prepared for you. Your unfolding life is a whole expansion for Me as well. As you grow, so do I!

Every experience is an entirely new stage, which adds to what we are about. We are together in all things. All that you do is for Me also. All that you and I both do is for the Mother and the Father. All that They do is for us. Then, of course, we return and again do all things that we do for Them. We are All working together. We are at your side. We are closer than you think.

Experience It from Inside Out

I have another thought for you to consider. Though you have understood My words, I would like you to ask that these words come up out of the divinity within you and become alive so that you understand more deeply and more powerfully than could ever be described with words alone. I want you to feel what I have taught you. I want you to experience it from the inside out. To know a truth is one thing, but to feel that truth growing in you is to know Me, for I am Truth, and I am in you. As you feel that this Truth is alive, and you feel and experience the virtue of Love and all its beautiful ways of being, you are experiencing Me, for I am the perfection of the Father.

I continue to exercise this perfection in My life, and I also grow even as you do. Even though I have received the fullness of Father, I continue to learn. As it happens to you, so it happens to Me all over again, and I grow with you. Feel My presence in you and realize how close we are. Allow these truths to not only be understood with your mind- it has heard them before-but also understood with your heart.

I would that these words be alive and become a living part of you, so that you feel what I have said, experience what I have said, and comprehend what I have said in a manner that is beyond words or thoughts. Comprehend it holistically and make it fully part of your being. Man is to experience Me and know Me personally. I am right at your side. I am completely with you. I am completely accepting. I understand you. I know the course we shall follow to lead you upward through the areas that you are to climb. When you reach the top of that mountain, you can see that beyond it there are other mountains to climb.

As you continue to ascend and move forward in your eternal progression, see Me next to you in your imagination. To know Me is to know how accepting I am of you. Ask and I will be there, as I have said before. Your asking simply allows you to open the door that you may experience what I speak about, that you believe it, that it becomes part of you as we continue on this beautiful sojourn side-by-side.

Enjoy the Journey with Me

So that you might know Me and experience Me personally, I invite you to come forward so that in time, and in My wisdom, you shall clearly hear My voice. However, put no expectation upon it. Just know that it will be, and remain peaceful about when that time shall come. Also know that you may see Me. Whether in a visitation or a dream in the night, it matters not. What does matter is that your eyes be opened, that you might see and your ears be opened, that you might hear. These things are part of the invitation I give to you. I have prepared them for you.

These Are the Last Days

This is the time of the last days, so trust in that which has been said. Walk forward and continue in faith. Walk forward in the acceptance of who you are. Know how close I am, and let us continue to move forward that we bring joy to our Holy Parents. Yea, even that you bring joy to Me in all things that you do, for I know you are learning, you are progressing, and you are My child. You are also My brother, or My sister. You are a holy divine being. Yea even that you are of God the Father and the Holy Mother you also are divine. You are upon this holy sojourn which is your eternal life. Joyous shall be the journey before thee, and this I will show thee as we continue, in your knowing Me personally.

Chapter 7

Come Be With Me

My dear ones, I begin this in soberness, not in any negativity and heaviness, but in seriousness. I come to lift you because sometimes you are too serious about life. The seriousness defeats the very purpose for which we come forth. However, I have a deep message within Me and a deep desire to reach out to you. I am serious about My desire to have a closer, personal relationship with you and that you are aware of it.

Higher Understanding

I understand well that you try to reach out to Me and have not yet felt as close as you desire. I understand the false beliefs that are within you that keep you from opening up to receive. Now, can I remove these false beliefs? Yes. Can I come in and make a mighty change in your being? Yes. Do you only need to desire this? Yes, in part it is to desire, but also to be willing to see all that is taking place energetically within you and to see the old belief systems that you hold onto.

I must come and teach you the truth. I must bring into your conscious mind and into your heart the Holy Truth of a higher understanding. Part of that understanding is our relationship. I will describe it generally in a different manner than you perhaps have perceived it before. Then I will bring it down to a one-on-one relationship.

The Holy Spirit, also referred to as the Holy Ghost, often gives individuals power and direction as they seek for additional guidance. The Holy Ghost is to support you as an extension beyond the Light of Christ, that came into you as you enter this world. The Holy Ghost gives you the ability also to discern, to know, and to remember the truth that you have within.

As you progress, a greater opening should occur so that you might receive not only the guidance and the companionship of the Holy Ghost, who also brings you to Me. When you have accepted and moved forward to follow the promptings given by the Holy Spirit, He will bring you into a relationship with Me directly. I am then to move forward and send to you My thoughts, My power, and My capacity. All this comes through the Holy Atonement as a gift, whether through the Light of Christ, the Holy Spirit's guidance, or My direct relationship with you.

Your Atoning Savior

We have two relationships: the relationship I have with you as your atoning Savior and the One who understands perfectly all things that are taking place within you. I brought you before Me in the garden when I was to go through the Atonement, as if you were allowed to come into My being and Me into you. We were one for that moment. I was able to go into a realm and a dimension so that I could experience your life, as if I went through it. I was moved into a different time dimension-if you can call it that as a way to comprehend in a very short period of time that which would take many years in this world. Nevertheless, this compressed time was detailed, and I was given the fullness of the power from the Father, who was, literally, the Father of My being, My physical being, and My spirit. I was able to comprehend and move through all things, so that I could understand you perfectly.

I was allowed to draw in and, by love, create patterns, holy ways, even all of your eternal life, to create all the love necessary to lift you, all the truth to imbue you and to fill you with eternal ways, and to lift you so that you might come to be like Me and even the Father. I have received the fullness of the Father and, after the great Atonement, brought forth the capacity to be even more perfect like Him who is the great Father of us all. Yet, at the same time, that which was gifted to Me is offered to you in the same manner.

I know you understand many of these things, but I review them for a foundation, for many different understandings exist in the world which cause confusion. Nevertheless, it is given unto Me not only to hold the fullness of the Father and be the Only Begotten, but also to offer this through Me so that you might be given that same power, capacity, and ability in your physical bodies. Even though I had the power of the Father within Me from My childhood, I had to learn as you learn, growing up through the years before My great ministry. I grew just like any child, although I had tremendous power and capacity within Me. It came quickly for Me, I would agree.

Your Atoning Moment

In some ways your atoning moment is stretched out over your entire life. In other words, you go through your life struggling to overcome fallen nature and patterns of distortion, even of diminished love so that you might convert or change and bring yourself into wholeness. You desire to tune into your divine nature and to open up to perfect your life, so that it is filled with love and in perfect alignment with all Holy Truth and ways. Thus, this alignment with all Holy Truth and ways is not constricted, restrained, and rigid, but is an understanding of all holy principles and truths and how they work together. Movable and flexible, they flow to be able to meet each circumstance.

We are enabling you, at this point, to understand what the Father understands about how these principles flow together and work, and also how they are alive and give vitality to you. They are alive because their origin is out of eternal, infinite Love-unconditional, pure Love, divine essence of which we are made-which gives life to all Holy Truth. You have this experience of going through what I went through with you. This experience is extended throughout your entire life so that you might be very thorough in understanding the many wonderful ways that exist, yea, even eternal ways.

So you are having a longer experience. Your atonement or your ability to bring into one sound, one tone, one vibration, and one frequency into wholeness, unity, and perfection into your life will help you connect to all that is in every place. Then you unify all that exists of Love and of Truth or all principles so that you may feel one with all individuals. This unification-this coming together, this oneness, this wholeness-was created for you with Me, for Me, and by Me. At the same time, you are also creating it within yourself. Our relationship is also about learning Truth. Truth is one part, even living Truth, or Truth that is filled with Love that gives Holy direction, guidance, and understanding.

Love's Oneness

Love itself needs to be explained. Love is very much an emotion, a feeling, a passion, but it is also a wholeness of all that is. In many ways, Love is the completion, the fulfillment of all truths, the beginning of all truth, and the origin of everything that is. Love's divine, holy substances are pure and serene, calm and peaceful, and joyful all at the same moment. Love is the presence of everything brought together in harmony and tranquility. This beautiful oneness that exists in Love, this Holy essence, is part of what you would call love as a feeling, an emotion, yet it is greater.

To describe Love in words diminishes it. The only way you really can understand what I am speaking about is to experience it. So, I desire to deliver two things to you. First is to experience this pure Holy Love, magnified far beyond

What does exist within you now. You will continue to increase in experiencing Love in this lifetime. Second, I want to teach you about Holy principles and ways so that you have a greater understanding. All these things come forth and bring us together as the divine God-kind human beings that you are to unify us and bring us into pure harmony and oneness, just as pure as Love itself.

You are made out of Love and given agency to grow and then to learn how to use that Love to come back together with Us to fulfill the magnificence of the holy expressions and results of that Love. You were once one with the Mother and the Father. You were part of Them. You were sent forth on your sojourn to move out from Their presence to become the individual that you are. You are now intent on not only coming away and learning, but also learning so much that you then bring yourself back into unity, perfection, and oneness with Us, though you always maintain your individuality.

Heavenly Father's Holy work of bringing you through all your stages of development is very much in tune with My role and position of the Savior and Redeemer of the world. The Atonement that I brought forth is part of our relationship in which I teach you two things: First, eternal Truth, living Truth, all principles combined in harmony. Second, I bring forth an offering for you to experience Love. This Love is the essence of everything that is, in perfect harmony and oneness. Giving you this gift is My holy privilege and blessing. This pure Love was given to Me from the Holy and Divine Father and Mother-eternal Truth and pure Love, together and inseparable within Me. I now come to give them to you in the same manner as it was given to Me by the Holy Parents, that you might hold it in the same degree.

Come Know Me as a Person

What I am going to present next is connected to and is inseparable from what I have already described. I am also a person. Now you would say: Of course you are, but you are the Savior. Yes, and I am an individual. I would like you to know Me as a person, not just as the Savior, but to have a personal, divine relationship in which we talk, we communicate, we laugh together, or we sing together, we feel together, we love together, we enjoy each other and share stories and experiences. I opened first, so that you would come to Me in this manner. I already know these things about you. Do I understand you perfectly? Yes, I do. I know you. I know you as an individual. I understand more about you than you do at this point. Nevertheless, I enjoy who you are.

I have developed the capacity to see beauty in all varieties. I have a perfect understanding of all the experiences that you go through. I am perfectly patient, tolerant, and accepting of the different variations of things that you try. I see your attempts. I see your activities. I see your ways and your choices as just that because your choices and ways and experiences do not necessarily represent the whole of who you are. I see you for who you are.

Come to Experience Yourself

Your actions and what you do are connected to holy principles and eternal Truths, but the essence of you comes out of Love and is the Divine, Holy creation that you are. I see the perfection of you and the wholeness of you. You are already God-kind even though you are just beginning your sojourn relative to where you will be one day, fully like the Father. You move forward through different stages of development with a uniqueness of self. This may not be easy to understand by words alone, yet I use words to describe this. Again, I invite you to want to experience knowing yourself. Experiencing yourself is not just to understand all that you think and choose, all that you believe, all that you would take action upon, but also to experience the Holy creation that you are.

Imagine a beautiful flower. It is not doing anything. Yes, it has shape, form, fragrance, and beauty. For those who have eyes to see, it has a radiating energy coming out from it, which is a further manifestation of what qualities are within that flower. In a much more complex way, you are a holy creation, more than just shape and form. An essence flows out of you, a uniqueness of quality and beauty that you are, a beauty in the formation of you that is beyond shape, like a fragrance or an emanating energy.

Your uniqueness exists and is beautiful. It has a most exquisite and unique frequency of sound unlike any other tone in the world, as if you have your own personal song, your frequency, your way of being. Just hearing the sound of you is beautiful. To experience you in all different ways, similar to the senses-to see, to touch, to feel, to smell-is beautiful. All these different ways of existence exist in you. The beauty in you is outside of and before and beyond you and includes your actions, your choices, and your beliefs.

We often 'feel' people when we first meet them, or even after we have known them for a while, for that matter. More than just what they say, we 'feel' their presence; we 'feel' something about them. Even if you have had very little conversation, you can feel something about them right away. You can feel that person. You can sense that person. You are drawn to that person. You feel a connection even before you experience talking through things, finding out what they do, or even doing things with them, discussing ideas, philosophies, thinking, and seeing how they move through life.

Understand Your Uniqueness

I am always bringing things together that you might see them in wholeness. At the same time, I also want you to understand the parts of the whole. A part of you is just your 'being.' Right now in your life, you are drawn to some individuals and not drawn to others. Later on, you will be drawn to everyone. But at the beginning, right now, you just like certain individuals. You feel a connection. You feel comfortable together. At this point in your development the uniqueness of who you are and the uniqueness of your friend come together to harmonize. A beauty, a connection, a recognition of the whole being are all there; the doing part, the thinking or belief part, and the 'being' part are all present.

Some things are unique about you. You are a beautiful, divine being. I know that part of you. I love that part of you. I enjoy that part of you. I have been brought forth to feel as the Father does. He knows, accepts, loves, and enjoys all varieties of beings. I enjoy and am naturally attracted to each one. This state of being, this uniqueness of who you are, is a form of love. It is beautiful, pure, and whole. It is a presence. It is holy, and it is you. I enjoy you.

Conversing with Me

As you come into a relationship with Me, I want you to know Me as I already know you. Yet, as you come to Me in our conversations, I would like you to introduce yourself to Me, to present yourself to Me. Yes, I agree that your thoughts shall be a part of your conversation. Read this next part carefully because it is a little different for you. Again, I am inviting you to experience this.

When you come in prayer, you usually have something particular in mind. But I would strongly encourage you to be in conversation with Me, to talk, to present what you think and what you feel in a variety of ways. Don't try to be idealistic; just be real. In this, you also come to know yourself by opening up more. Now, this is beautiful. I am also asking you to come and simply step into the space where I am literally standing before you, where you could see and feel the beautiful essence coming out from Me. It is the essence of who I am, My being, not just what I think or say.

Also, the same is with you. When you are still and quiet, you have an opportunity to notice not only My presence. but also your presence, this essence that I say is you. I greatly desire for you to know yourself thoroughly and completely, even much more than you do now because you are more than just your thoughts and your actions. But to know the being that you are opens you up to a space in a higher frequency of vibration, a place of also knowing Me.

First, we will have a conversation. Then, in time, My thoughts and My beliefs will be sent forth to you through impressions and words in the many different ways that I communicate. As you also open up and present your thoughts to Me, I will return to you. You share with Me, and I will then share with you My thoughts and beliefs. Second, we will be in the presence of each other, a stillness to feel My love, the uniqueness of My being. I invite you to truly feel. At the same moment as I reflect to you, I would like you to also be aware and begin to sense and feel the presence of yourself, your being.

Step into Your Own Presence

Because your mind wants to try to figure things out and put it into definition, you will be inclined to want to think very heavily about what is going on. I do want you to notice how you begin to think, not with your mind, but to perceive, to be aware of using all your senses at the same. moment. This awareness is as if your entire body can sense, hear, touch, feel, see, and think-every part of you. That is when you begin to gather yourself and step into your own presence, this beautiful wholeness of who you are. As you come to feel this beautiful presence of which you are, you also come to know and feel My presence. As you come to know and feel My presence and My uniqueness of who I am, you will magnify your understanding about yourself. This is not necessarily meditation, although some individuals can move into a state of meditation in which they begin to sense the beauty of self, of their divine being, and even of My being.

I can give this explanation to you in words, but it is much more powerful when delivered in the experience itself that transcends words. It is far beyond description and must simply be felt. You may also feel the presence of other divine beings when you open up to this state. Oft times, I will send holy angelic ones to simply be present with you, not necessarily that they have a message to give you. They've come just in the wholeness of who they are. They open up their beauty, their presence, which will then begin to prepare you to open up yours. Your inclination, when hearing some information like this, is to go out and experience it. You want the very first time to be something quite miraculous, different than you ever experienced before. I am not saying you might not have a very profound experience, but I am saying: Come and practice for exercise. Create many opportunities for this to be.

Walk Beside Me

Part of this experience is simply being still and allowing the whole sensing of who you are and the whole sensing of who I am to simply be there. A profound depth is in you and in Me. I desire that you know Me as the being that I am and to even interact with Me. I have invited you to know that one day you will walk beside Me. One day, we will walk upon this earth, if you are to stay, and you will know Me. You will know Me as a person; we discuss many things, or we don't discuss anything at all because much can be said without any words. Just being together is a beautiful experience. So, I would have you start with that now. Sometimes it helps for the mind to envision a being before you, however you perceive that to be. You might feel a sensation of touch that I am present, like a warm light touching your skin. You may feel a tingling sensation. It comes in different ways and can be different at different times.

I understand that the demands of the world pull you here and there and seem to make your life difficult. It seems an outside power has greater power than you. Yet, I say to you, be with Me, not always in prayer with just a request or even in adoration, not just to find the holy gifts and eternal truth that I can deliver to you, and not requesting that I open you up to feel the holy presence that you are, but rather that we might come to know each other even more. Do I know you perfectly? Yes. Will our relationship expand? Yes it will, as you open up this ability to connect and feel My presence and connect to your own presence as well.

By practicing, allowing time, choosing time, and having no expectation, but being open to every possibility has a very deep, profound capability to open you up to My powers. Also having the time to be still and just feeling My presence, then repeating this as often as you can, opens you even further to receive My full Atoning Gift for you. The more you are quiet and still and come to the presence or sense of self and Me, just as we are, the more you will experience a depth. Start at the beginning from the very foundation, the bottom, and then move up to bring a power of peace, tranquility, joy, enlightenment, understanding, and expansion of power and capacity.

All this will be beyond your understanding or any experience you have ever had. Come to know Me personally on every level. You know My thoughts; I know your thoughts, and we converse. You hear Me, you speak, I speak, we both hear, we both sense, we both feel, we pick up the wholeness of who the other is. This close, personal knowing of each other and knowing yourself deeply will then prepare you to receive the fullness of the gift.

The Gift

In some ways, the gift of the Atonement comes second. First, I just ask you to come and be with Me, to feel Me, to get to know Me through conversation and also without. conversation, just to be together. Sometimes you will feel absolute joy in this; you will feel almost giddy with excitement. Other times, it will be very peaceful. You can experience a wide variety of emotional responses from just being very quiet and still and at the same moment feeling joyful. You feel every emotion of goodness you can possibly feel all at once. At the same time, you feel the presence of everything you are and everything that I am. This holy divine essence is what I call the Love of what we are.

Absolutely Indescribable!

We are unique, and to experience each other in this manner is absolutely indescribable. Oh, I would that you know Me and know yourself on every level. Your being, relating, communicating, transferring, and connecting back and forth moves into this oneness that I have with the Father. I have not lost myself in Him, but I have expanded myself. I am all that I am, and I am all that He is, and We are perfectly one. This oneness takes place in these physical bodies with your being able to experience this beautiful presence of the divinity that we are.

This presence, this uniqueness of self is beautiful, exquisite, and wonderful! Yes, out of it come thoughts and activities. But even without that, as if all the thoughts are quiet and present, but not expressed, and all activities are present, but not expressed, we will both come to share the wholeness of who you are and the wholeness of who I am. This you cannot fully share with Me until you also know. yourself. Be still, willing, desirous, giving time for being in My presence. Just to feel Me will be very powerful and help you to also then feel yourself. To know yourself allows you to know Me, and to know Me is to know you. It moves back and forth until you are able to feel absolute oneness with Me.

Profound, Deep Moments of Oneness

I cannot use words to describe the exquisiteness of all that is the greatest joy, the greatest peace, the purest love, the love that you are, and the love that I am, together. You do not lose yourself, but you become Me, and I become you.

In other words, we expand; we are who we are without losing our individuality.

We are more than just self because we have the added joy of experiencing someone else at the same moment. In this earth life you have not experienced what I am talking about, so you cannot compare My words to anything. Being one with the highest of all truth and emotion at the same moment is beyond description; it is the greatest of all experiences.

I desire this for you because nothing is greater than being one with the Father. I desire to have this take place with you and Me. This oneness will come as you desire it and give opportunity for it. So be still and notice, be patient and feel Me, sense Me. Open up to Me and then bring your attention to notice yourself. Ask: What am I? What do I sense here? What is going on? Let the wholeness of My being experience the wholeness of your being. When you ask, I will illuminate from My being, from the wholeness of what I Am, and I will send the energy of all that I Am to be around you and in you. I will illuminate that pure divinity in you that will open you up. We will begin to remove the boundaries and the veil. Because of the veil you cannot see who you are, what you are, and all that you are. The veil also makes it difficult to see and know Me.

Therefore, we are working towards this together, and the knowing will come. Each day will bring a different sensing, so let each experience be what it is. One day, for example, you might feel warmth, a tingling. Another day, you may sense a light inside your head. Other times you may have thoughts or impressions, and you begin to notice emotions or different virtues coming forth. Sometimes, a profound stillness of a presence will exist, but you cannot describe it. After awhile, all these different ways will be experienced at exactly the same moment; it is beyond description. So I invite you to come that you might experience it and know it.

I am a unique person. I am a being, a real being. I am not just an image or a position. Yes, I am the Savior. Yes, I am the Redeemer. Yes, I am the Messiah. Yes, I am the Only Begotten of the Father, and I am the person I want you to know. I say to you, let us come to know each other by our conversations.

At first, you begin to know Me. As you talk, trying to present who you are and introducing yourself to Me, you also begin to know you. The more you come to know you, the more you open up to also come to know Me. I may then give place for you to be able to hear My words, know My thoughts, feel My presence, have conversation with Me that your mind be filled, and you begin to sense Me. You will feel when I am there: Ah, the Savior is with Me today. I can feel Him. After awhile, you'll know I don't leave, as if I always stand there, and you know My thoughts, and you know My mind, and you know My feelings and My emotions in every moment, right there, right beside you. each moment of your life, I am there. In

Then we have moments when we are beyond any thought or beyond any action. We are just in the presence of each other. You will then be prepared to receive the fullness of the Holy Atonement, which is your absolute exalted being, filled with eternal life, perfection of self, one with those of Us who are, yea, even the Gods above, so are you. We then invite you to evolve, to grow, and to see yourself become the beauty and the fullness of all that you are.

Come Have Sacred Time with Me

I understand, late in the evening as you first read this and are ready to go to bed and sleep, very often you will think: I am going to do this. Then the week moves on. The morning calls you to do the many tasks and duties. As each day passes, it is easy to go back to the old patterns and routine.

In soberness, I so deeply yearn to be closer to you in My heart. I want you to know Me. I want you to know you. Please make time. Even put aside other things that may be important and come to have sacred time with Me. Sometimes, very profound deep moments can happen in a short period of time. When you begin to experience our presence with each other, you will be completely unaware of time. We can be there for quite an extended period of time. Allow that. Let other things go as this relationship, once created, will add such a dimension, power, and ability to all the actions and all the doing you can possibly do. Our relationship will make a dramatic change in your life and in your relationships.

Although this will not be an immediate, overnight thing, it begins immediately and will grow, just as any friendship grows. I am real. I am not far away. I am not just history. I am not just future. I am now, with you. Oh, please. What do I desire? What is the yearning of My heart? To be close to you because I know you and I love you. I enjoy you, the you that you are. I understand your thoughts. I understand your actions. I accept them all as part of your beautiful learning experiences, as you sample many different ways of being and doing, thinking and experiencing. They all lead you forward. You will let go of many ideas, and many others will grow and expand. Remember, I am not critical of anything. I understand you. I know you. I enjoy you.

What is the desire of My heart? Oh, that we are close, even that we become one, like Mother and Father and I are one, indescribable. Please, come be with Me. Come know Me. Come, be in My presence, be still and know that I am, who I am, and who you are. Feel and experience it and know it. The greatest of all is nothing more than that perfect unity, expanding, and adding dimension to the wholeness of who you already are. The Father and I are one. I invite you to also be one with Us, yea, even with Me. Then, I shall take you, and you will also then come to be one with the Father and the Holy Mother and the Heavens above: united, holy, exalted, perfected, expanded, infinite, and eternal. Hear the sincerity of My desire. Hear the yearning of My heart. There is nothing greater.

Come. Know Me personally, and also know yourself personally that we may be one. This is My heart's desire and is My invitation to you, the Gift I want to give to you. Come, come, come and be with Me.

Chapter 9

I Entreat Everyone

My voice called out to you many times through all the centuries, through all generations, through all time here upon the earth. I have provided prophets and those holy ones who have come unto Me and drawn close. Therefore, I have poured out My will unto them. But I call every man, not just a few. I call everyone and say: Come and be close to Me. Come and know Me, for I am your Savior and I desire to pour My spirit and My love into you and to bring the fullness of the gift of eternal life from our Father in Heaven to you. Such joy and such peace you cannot yet begin to imagine until ye are blessed with this fullness of all I desire to give to you.

Come and Be With Me!

You often hear these terms: eternal life, redemption, peace... and even love. When you hear these words time after time, they lose their power. They become diluted with the frequency of repetition. This word love is used very often in this world, but what is it supposed to mean? The real meaning and fullness of the beauty and the power that is in love has been lost. Nevertheless, I use the language that you have. I use this word love. I use the words eternal life. For you to have the full meaning and feel the impact the full power upon you—that is attached to the—se words, you must experience them. You cannot define them by using other words. You could try, yet it does not have the same effect as the deliverance of what I speak when I speak the words eternal life and love. Of all the messages that I have given over and over again throughout time, the one I use to call every man with is: Come and be with Me.

The Light of Christ

I call every man, for the Light of Christ exists within every person. It is My light; it is My connection; it is the Love that I have from the Father that I bring to you. It is what keeps you alive, gives you direction, and also witnesses to you. It helps you discern and helps you in every aspect of your life. When you come to honor and respect the inner Light of Christ, this divine understanding of holy truth and love, as well as the understanding of the relationship that I have with your Father in Heaven, Holy God, that He is, the Light of Christ will grow and expand in you. I will then send you a further witness. This will be more than constant Light to direct you, support, sustain, and connect you to the heavens. This will be an additional voice, an additional power of guidance. Then you have two witnesses: My Light that dwells in you and in every man, and a beam of Light that is the connection. These two aspects of divine Light are the very passageway that you use to communicate with God, the Father, whom you pray through, and who you use to receive the knowledge of what is truth.

The Holy Ghost, a Flow of Light

Next comes the witness of the Holy Spirit or, the Holy Ghost. This Divine Being is also holy and pure, a God in His own right. He comes and adds a further witness, and guides, prompts, reveals, and testifies for you to have that stronger additional witness and influence. This influence amplifies the connections. This gives you further clarity. It is meant to give increased inspiration that provides further direction in your life. As you honor that direction from the Holy Ghost, He will not just come to witness from time to time, but He will also come and reside in you to be with you constantly. As you then honor the guidance of the Holy Spirit, the direction, the promptings, the inspiration, and the revelations, then He shall prepare you to have Me as a constant source to be with you.

How is the Holy Ghost different from the Light of Christ? One, the Light of Christ is more generic. It is a general flow of light that holds truth in it. It connects you to your Father in Heaven. It is an open Light source at all times. The truth of the eternities flows through it, so does Love. I am the director of this Light! As you actively access this Light, it will be amplified, but it is not the same as My personal companionship. You have that beginning Light. Then you have that Light increased by the companionship of the Holy Ghost. It is My desire that you reverence and honor this gift given to you until it is constant, in every moment of your life. He will prompt, guide, and direct you so that you might be attuned to holy principles. He will begin to teach you and prepare you for coming unto Me.

Initially, the general Light of Truth and Love connects you to the holy Parents and sustains you. As you increasingly access that Light, eventually the Holy Spirit is given to you to comfort, guide, and direct. His ultimate purpose is to bring you to Me, not merely My ideas, not just to learn about Me. The mission of the Holy Spirit is to direct you to Me, then assisting you in our developing a strong, personal relationship.

The Second Comforter

The Second Comforter is the direct relationship that you and I have, personal and unique. This relationship is to grow as I invite you to hear Me now and to know Me personally. I will witness and add upon all that the Holy Ghost has given to you. I will also instruct you in further understanding. You are given many holy teachings that grow as you gain greater comprehension. This will allow you to understand the principles that are eternal ways. I come to embed in you these principles.

Truth is a holy form. It is Light and is pure. You have that form of eternal Truth already within you because you are literally a child of God. It sits dormant in its full power. When I bring these amplified, eternal principles' fully developed power into you, they will match with the truth that does exist in you, though not completely understood by you or in full effect within you. Eternal principles naturally come forth in some degree from your spirit being and exist in your physical body.

Eternal truth gives structure and form to everything, even your physical body. Truth is a structure and a form. It is all Holy ways. As you progressed forward, the understandings that you had were simple. The things that you are learning now in this life are to be expanded into a more complete and fuller understanding. So, when I infuse this more mature and more developed into you, your matching truth becomes alive and begins to expand. This Truth is then more active until it becomes the nature of your physical being. It already is in your spiritual nature, but now we shall make it your physical body's nature also.

Eternal Truth

My purpose or My mission is to bring the eternal Light and Love of God, the Father-which I now hold fully in Me and deliver it to you in your physical body. You have received as much truth and love as you could in your spirit beings, your spirit bodies. But now it is time for your eternal progression to be added upon and to receive this greater Truth in your physical body. This is the time for that progression to take place. It is possible to receive everything that I have prepared for you.

All That the Father Has

Again, what have I prepared for you? All that the Father has. In order for you to receive this gift, in many ways it must become a full-time activity. But that does not mean that we must only be about 'spiritual work.'

It is My intent to show you how to bring spiritual life and awareness into everything that you do, but it is not with casualness. Neither is it in the ways or the patterns of this world. You must have holy, divine, heavenly patterns, eternal patterns, brought into you. They are different than the confused, diluted, and often distorted perceptions of the world's concept of truth. Scriptures are clear, but men frequently misinterpret them. Scriptures are the holy words of prophets who have spoken. Generations and generations of men have listened to these words without the enlightenment of spiritual intervention, and they hear the words in a distorted way. Also, many hear them the way the world keeps teaching, and they interpret according to the understanding of their own mind, that has not yet been illuminated by My knowing and My mind.

When you work solely from your mind's understanding, and philosophy, your attempts to figure it out are limited. At best, you will only extract limited understanding from scriptures. Yet, it can be so opened up that your mind comprehends the greater part when there is given an understanding beyond words-a comprehension that extends far beyond the definition of each word. The comprehension must come from the Holy Divine gift delivered to you. Your mind in its mortal state will not understand in purity the words without having My Light to illuminate and lift your understanding beyond the words. The Holy Prophets have spoken, and I continue to reach out, but men, for the most part, are too busy with their own interpretations to really listen. Nevertheless, I keep calling, and I keep sending messages that are not really understood until the heavenly gift of divine Light distills upon them.

Levels of Understanding

There are different levels of understanding. First, the Light of Christ can illuminate the words you hear if you desire and are ready for further understanding. Then the Holy Spirit will illuminate and give greater depth not only to your understanding but also to empower the words as part of the Holy Truth. The spirit of Love will nurture that. Truth. As you honor these things, it is My desire to expand your understanding even far beyond that which you have received. I am He who will bring you an additional empowering of understanding.

In the term Second Comforter, why the word comforter? Both Truth and Love comfort. The Second Comforter does not just enlighten the mind and give you understanding. I am here for more than that. I am here to bring into your physical being such sweet Truth and Love and Eternal ways in their whole active living state that the transformation in you will be sweet and be a comfort to you. Then there is no discomfort in your life. That is what I want to give to you: My Light to the level there is no discomfort in your life, no disturbance, no stress so that all situations— no matter what is going on in your life—are peaceful to you. You will be calm enough to know in each moment what to do and to understand how each moment applies to your eternal way. If you have stress or discomfort, you have not fully received Me.

The Holy Spirit's intent is to work with you to bring you unto Me. Then I will come and bring you comfort beyond anything you have experienced before. It is a constant comfort so that every part of your life holds sweetness, calmness, peace, joy, and delight. Understanding and empowerment will naturally flow into your physical being. There is no struggle, but instead there is empowerment, even Heavenly Light and Love from My being that fills you.

I Take You to the Father

This is the comfort that I desire to give to you. This comfort will grow and prepare you so that I might come and fully show Myself to you. This then will allow Me to give you the fullness of the gift I desire to give. My purpose is to take you to the Father. How can I take you to the Father? Is it only after this lifetime? There is no limit on the purity of the Love the Father has for you. There is never a ceiling. He simply offers it. Yes, there is a lot to accomplish. There is also a lot to receive that has no limit, not for any man. I desire to give you everything. I would transform your physical body in such manner that it would be prepared, not only to stand in My presence but in the Father's as well. I would lift you, spirit and body still intact, to the fullness and bring you unto the Father, our Holy God. I would like that to sink in. That is where We want to go. But I cannot do it without your fully opened heart, without every particle of you desiring it.

The Fullness of Your Perfection

I am offering you the fullness of your perfection. The seeds of perfection are in you; they are in stages of development. Let My Light shine upon this seed of perfection, the godliness in you. Let My Living Waters come in and fill you, dwelling within and giving you power to grow. Then shall you go and move forward in your life until you experience this perfection. There are so many that keep this gift small. The immensity of what We want to give, what We can give, what We desire to give compared to what is being received is beyond your ability to comprehend. Even your percentage numbers could not describe the difference from where mankind is as a whole, compared to what is offered. Yes, you have time to continue on and prepare yourself after this world if you go through the door of death, but it is offered now.

My main emphasis, at this point, is to invite you to know Me personally, and then to have you sealed in My heart. You are sealed in My heart when you say: Yea, Lord! and I am sealed in your heart when you bring Me in. What seals anything? Love. Pure Love seals. Love makes it infinite, forevermore. Love makes the sealing permanent, irrevocable, standing and expanding continually. When you are sealed in My heart, you then know My mind, you know My heart, you know Me, you know My personality, you know My ways, you know how I feel. We have become one. This is what I invite you to do. I speak, and I will continue to speak for a while longer, then I will be silent. I will leave you with the words that you have received, and unless you choose otherwise, they will remain small, diluted, and without the fullness of the power that I desire to put into them.

But you may choose. Choose by the fervency of Holy prayer to the Father through the connection of our Love. Choose that you might have the Holy Spirit illuminate, expand, empower, and enhance My words so that I might come to you as an additional comforter, a Second Comforter, in your life. You then receive the comfort of which I have spoken. I continue to move with you, through you, and teach you how to become one with Me by this experience.

Receive Christ's Love

This is what I desire. That is what is in My heart, for I Love you purely. But all the Love that exists in all eternity will never void your ability, your Divine Eternal way, or your right to choose to receive the Love We desire to give, but you must desire it deeply. It must burn within you. Your love for us must be pure. Ask in sincerity with constant prayer that you might receive the opening of your own being to love as purely as can be. Then, My Love shall feed your love, and your love will then come into Me. Your love will multiply. I will return back your love for Me with more Love from the Father and I to you, so that you will have greater power to Love Us. We then, with the greater power, will give back to you an increase of our Love. For though our Love is perfect and infinite, you have not yet fully received it. We so desire to give it to you, that you might truly, truly become one with Us.

Remove the Wedge Between Us

I want you to ponder these words and pray about them. There are reasons why there is a wedge between Us. Yes, you know Me and to some degree you love Me. But there still is a dividing wedge between us, compared to how much we really love each other. You do not feel it in your physical life as much as your spirit does because your spirit has experienced this love, this beautiful relationship that you and I had. I want you to know Me again as you have known Me before you came into this earth life, for you did know Me, closely.

You chose to come to this earth for the multitude of experiences that would enhance your ability to grow. My holy position was given to Me, and the fullness of the Father was infused into Me so that I might complete My work. I am to keep the Holy connections and offer unto you the opportunity for progression, knowing this earthly experience is such a unique opportunity in your eternal life. This progression is what you desire, and what I desire. This is why you have been offered all the gifts, all perfect Love, and all perfect Truth. Be ye mindful. Let the closed doors in your mind be opened even to the point that they never close but continue to expand. More doors will open up until your mind comprehends beyond words. Then the Holy Scriptures, which have been given from the beginning of time, shall open up unto you in your own revelation. For I say, I desire that My revelations will pour into you.

Yes, you are diligent, and you have a great desire. There is also true sincerity, and together we will remove those blocks. I will speak a little bit more, later on, about what keeps the barrier, the wedge, there, and how it can be removed, and what you can do on your part and what I am here to do as My part. There will be no distancing as My Light fills your being in such a manner that you shall first feel that I am indeed with you. You will receive this comfort that I speak of until there is no stress in your life but just a growing sweetness that you feel at all times. I am preparing you, so that I might then come first by speaking clearly and then presenting the fullness of My being to you. Hold on to such a sweet moment, which I desire for you. Hold on to your faith! Even though I know you do believe these words, they still seem far away to you.

Be Diligent in Prayer and Desire

Continue to be diligent in prayer, but not just to remove those things that cause the wedge, the separation. Be assured that a degree of the connection is always there, so that you might receive the fullness of this sweet gift of My love. Also pray that you will receive the sweet comfort I desire to bring into your life as a constant comfort, without struggle. By the power that is with Me, I will change the nature in your physical body to be like unto your spirit. The two infused as one. Your being becoming prepared for My glory. I shall then come unto you as you have had a great desire to come unto Me.

Then shall I be sealed in your heart, and you sealed in Mine. We are one, ready to continue on that we may go unto the Father. For He so loves you and desires that you come unto Him. Let us be about this. Be prayerful, let this time be for our holiness together that we might glorify God, our Father. He then will continue to glorify us.

My Request

I am asking you to remember to read this carefully and slowly. There is a tendency when there is no new information, to skim over the words looking for something 'substantial'. If people had stopped on the words, 'Come unto Me' and really pondered this, felt My Spirit calling them, felt My deep love, My willing desire to work with each person, there would be a much more profound influence and more results.

There are places in this book where I ask you to choose some way of being and work with Me so we can make your miraculous transformation. Please, honor My request. I asked at the beginning of this book to please stop and pray frequently throughout the book. I remind you, I am aware of everything you do. When you do not pause your reading to pray, it is the same as ignoring Me, though I asked while standing right next to you. I remind you again, this is not just a book. I am speaking to you.

Please, read and pray often so the spirit in the words can open and bless you and My message can be fully delivered. Then I can work with you as I have intended. I so desire for you to experience the Love I have for you.

Chapter 10

An Even Greater Light

My blessed and holy friends, this book presents ideas and thoughts filled with My Love. Through it, I am inviting you to draw closer to the level I so desire for our relationship.

The Holy Spirit is the first comforter; this is true. The Holy Spirit has different names, describing different aspects of His power. What does it mean to have the second comforter? I am that second comforter. This title is important. I could have used several different titles, such as the second guider, inspirer, or one who empowers. I could go on to describe many things about these titles. Yet, as your friend, walking at your side, I chose to describe Myself as a comforter, your comforter.

The Light of Christ

Mankind has the Light of Christ, sometimes called his conscience, which gives all people an illumination of the truth that exists in their spirit and the truth that exists in eternity. This is unchanging and is eternal law. I have placed enough of this Light in every man and woman to sustain them. I continue to pour it into everyone so that they are never denied knowing what is aligned with eternal truth. However, this Light becomes faint when it is not honored.

If a man chooses to follow his own course and hear the voice of the world more-often giving forth advice contrary to the eternal way—then he will experience the consequences, the natural outflow of his choices. It diminishes the Light given to him. This diminishing occurs by consciously choosing to listen to other voices—opinions even outside of one's own opinion—rather than the true, still knowing voice inside.

Sometimes one will say: But it is very subtle! That is true. It can be very subtle. However, that still, small voice can also be very distinct and sure, without question, if you allow it. to be. You can know that the choices you are making are in alignment with eternal ways. This will bring in the greatest amount of growth, development, creativity, peace, joy, and all other positive virtues and experiences. You can desire these results. As you honor the Light of Christ, then you are given additional guidance by a divine being. The Holy Spirit is sent to add further inspiration with greater strength, as well as an enhancement of clarity. You may receive very distinct messages or be given strong impressions which are not so faint. In the beginning, these impressions may seem subtle; however, not as subtle as the Light of Christ which is given to everyone born on this earth.

A Constant Comfort

Now let Me bring forward additional ideas, thoughts, and My invitation to you. When one honors clearly by following and adhering to learning the wisdom from the guidance of the Holy Spirit, then one prepares for even greater light. I am desirous to bring unto you more guidance in order to bring you to a level that has a constant state of comfort. Again, that is the result of being filled with a knowing at all times what is best to do and the power to do it. This greater light adds a tremendous capacity far beyond the other guidance and support given to you.

The Light from heaven above that we send will give you strength and capacity to not only know the truth but also to live it. There is, however, a dramatic difference in the amount of Light as you move from level to level. It becomes greater. The power to know and to live that which comes from the Light of Christ is there, but not nearly as much as when the Holy Spirit guides. Even that is quite diminished relative to when you come to walk with Me and when you have such a degree of openness that My Love pours into you and makes mighty changes in your physical being. You then hold the patterns of eternal truth, empowered by the love in you. That change comes from Love and is sustained by Love and will always be there as a constant for you; therefore, it also brings you comfort. Your life is then constantly peaceful, and constantly in a state of joy and productivity, accomplishing and moving forward in every aspect.

A True Friendship

Your relationships, even with others who are not nearly as close to the level of Light that I give to you, take on new dimensions, the knowing and the power, yea even all of My Love. A friend is more than an acquaintance, and close friends are ones you can confide in, who strengthen and encourage you. You love their wisdom; you listen to what they have to say. They help you. They support you. They work with you and vice versa. A good friendship is a two- way thing. To have the power of the second comforter is to walk with Me as a friend. Just as it would be with any friendship, I want to walk with you, to share with you, enlighten you, empower and give you ideas, advice, counsel, support, help, and assistance in every way.

I can turn to you. I know you are doing the same for me. You come to empower and assist and in every manner return what I have given. You help out. You even give forth ideas. Yes, we talk through things. We move into a relationship that grows and brings you forward until we are one. Being one means that the power in you is the same as the power in Me, and the love in you is the same as the Love in Me. At the beginning of any friendship there is a certain level of comfort, enjoyment, ability, and all that comes with that because a good friendship grows. However, you may go through some times when you question the friendship. It is very wonderful and exciting at first. Then, as you get to know the person, there are some uncomfortable parts to it. That will even take place as you come to know Me.

There are going to be times when you feel uncomfortable about what we are doing—you and I together—until you understand further and you get to know Me better. That is the nature of a good friendship. At first, you may question something until you really understand that person very deeply. You transition beyond being uncomfortable with their thoughts, ideas, beliefs, and ways. You go to a state of having a beautiful, joyful, wonderful, comfortable relationship that brings forth its richness and beauty. As you come to know Me personally, it will be different than knowing about Me and the eternal concepts and principles that you have read about.

Our relationship is beyond just giving you ideas, advice, counsel, and wisdom. I am here for the interrelationship, the flow of love back and forth, and the care of the person that I am and that you are as individuals. That is the nature of a good friendship. This is more than what you get out of the friendship based on valuing that person's skills or intelligence or any other virtue that would be a benefit. It is far beyond that. A good friendship transcends words to describe it. A good friendship has a comfortable, beautiful sweetness. True friends can sit side-by-side, wordless, and feel the beauty of simply enjoying and loving that person, not necessarily for what they do or what they know, but a quality beyond that and before that. You feel that. You sense that. There is a great beauty in that relationship, in that simple presence of just being with each other.

My Invitation

This is the invitation I offer to you. To know Me, not just about Me, not just about truth, not just to get guidance, not just what you can gather from Me, though that is a vital part of it. I so desire to give everything as a good friend would want to give. Everything I can give to you, I want to give. You are to know Me as a person. When you know Me as a person and allow My love to completely be received, then you share what I am in My being. Yea, I am one with the Father and the Holy Mother, and We share Godhood. Since Godhood in its beginning form is with you, I share My Love and Light-the essence of who I am. It nurtures. and rapidly develops the godliness in you.

My desire for you is that you will lift up, so we stand as equals. There is a time frame as you move from one level of support to the next with guidance and direction from the Light of Christ. Eventually you will be walking with the Holy Spirit, or Holy Ghost, and then you are to come and walk closer with Me. There is a transition time in between so that in the beginning, when you have honored some of the Light of Christ, you begin to have the association and the support from the Holy Spirit. At first, He may not be a constant, but He will come and go and be there at crucial moments until eventually He is constantly at your side, never leaving. You then come to know His voice, and you come to know His promptings and the guidance and the direction that He gives.

My Greater Light

In the same manner, I will come in a greater degree than just My Light that exists within you. This greater Light will give you prompting in alignment with eternal ways, as well as the power to go forth in that manner. I come then and begin the friendship. Eventually, the Holy Spirit, though He is perfectly one with Me, relinquishes and will let go of your hand, placing it firmly in mine. We will walk hand-in-hand. He no longer has the same position as before in your life, though there is still a friend relationship.

You will always know that He is your friend, providing you with guidance. But now He does not take an active deliverance of the guidance. He is perfectly one with Me also; therefore, it is now possible to walk with Me in the same way you walked with Him because We are one. I am the one, if you will use the term, who does the talking. I am the one that is more active now rather than the Holy Spirit. There is still a time of transition in which I come and go in this greater degree. Eventually, I stay constantly, and we walk forward together. Our relationship grows greatly and develops strong and powerful as two good friends would be. Then I shall take you unto the Father.

Receive of My Fullness

Going to the Father does not take place until you have received everything I can give to you on this level. Your life will receive more and more peace, joy, comfort, strength and empowerment. Again I say, as I have said before, there will be no stress and no worries. You walk with always knowing that I am there. There is no doubt. You have such a strong sense within you as if you could look and see Me fully at your side in all My presence. It is the same, for I will energetically send unto you the entire vibration of Myself. Yea, I constantly feed you My light and My essence that is actually still in you and has been from the beginning, but it grows in such a manner as to hold the frequency as if you are experiencing My presence directly.

I am able then to come and often can present the fullness of My being, so that you see Me and hear Me and are with Me fully. Again there are different levels of that friendship as there always is, different levels of that comfort as when we first began our walk clearly, the two of us hand-in-hand. Our friendship at first may not be as strong as it will be later on, but I come to be with you constantly in this new manner. I will be with you to such degree as to amplify your power to be able to live all that you know and accept as Eternal way.

The Subtle Barriers in You

Now, what keeps this relationship at a distance? I have heard many of you, even those who are reading at this very moment, who have said: But yes, Lord, I would greatly desire this. I am so desirous. I want this with all of my heart and soul. Well, if that is the case, then why is it not so? If I want this and you want this, then what keeps us from that greater level? It is subtle barriers. In many ways it is not that I cannot be with you, but the barriers in you—and I will discuss them more—cause a muffling of our communication, a veiling so that you cannot strongly sense and experience Me. We could begin it, but it is not as distinct as it could be.

You have had times when you knew that I was there. You have felt Me at your side, and that is so. It is not a falseness of thought, but a reality. Those moments are few relative to what it could be like, and what I would desire and what you really desire. The subtleties of deception that come forth in this world exist. They are in the patterns of this world so much that they are in your physical being. They have been in your life, and they are strong in the world around you.

Now, these blocks are very subtle in the sense that they may look harmless, but it is an imitation. It is important to understand this blockage, so these subtleties will be addressed in the next chapter.

Chapter 11

First Glorify God

My dear one, in this chapter I will open you up to a mystery of God that can bring great awareness, power, and peace into your life. I will begin by pointing out that there are ways in your life where you think you are following and doing what is the eternal way, but the core reason and the core desire for doing something must be pure. As an example, being kind to other people so that they will be kind back to you does have some virtue in it, but if you are kind to people because there is the spirit of kindness in you and you can be no other way, and you do it for no other reason, with no other thought, and you are open to accept their kindness back, then your kindness has a completely different nature upon it.

The Greatest Commandment

Outwardly it may seem as if you are doing kind things. You feel the spirit of kindness within you while doing that, but what is the intent, the origin of that kindness? Why is it that you are being kind? Even if you are kind to people just because you want to be kind to people, it is still not in the Holy order of having the greater desire to glorify God first. So even though it is good, it is out of order. Let Me say that again: It is out of order. The greatest commandment is to love God, your grand and glorious Mother and

Father in Heaven first with all of your heart, might, mind, and strength. The second commandment—and there is an order here not the first commandment, is to love yourself and all mankind equally. There is no third commandment. In other words, you do not love others second and then love yourself third, and you don't love yourself first and then others second. The second commandment is to love both yourself and others in total equality.

We are all the children of our Holy Parents; everyone in the world is a dear sibling for us to love. But the first commandment is to love God, and when that is in order and you love God first, then the second commandment flows in purity, and all that you do in your relationships take on a newness. It is different than when you acted out of kindness alone, thinking that was good, but your actions were not totally pure. You have loved others without the first great purpose which is to glorify God. You do it out of a love for God. You love God first. That is the first thought, the first intent in your heart. Yet you often have them backwards. You are more concerned about what others think, or need, and about your being kind to them than about first loving God, our Father and Mother.

I truly have Love for all mankind, but it is secondary to My pure Love for the Father. I purely Love the Father first, then I am able to purely Love all others. There are very important reasons why we cannot have this order reversed, which I will explain in detail shortly. It may seem a subtle thing, but reversing this order can be a barrier to you. You may say: Well, I do desire to love God first, and that may be true, but there are also conscious and subconscious thoughts, beliefs, actions, and patterns that cause you to still turn first to the opinions of others, to the pleasing of others, and to the enjoyment of the interaction with others instead of turning first to God. How do you switch that? Well again, you work with Me and implement the mystery of God I mentioned earlier.

A Vast Matrix of Light

There is an energy pattern that goes out from those of us in the heavens from the Father through Me, and from Me into all the world. It is a vibration of energy, a series of rays of light woven into a matrix which is a vast communication network, an immense cosmic transmitter of all the divinity that is from the heavens above and the divinity of all truth that exists even in your world. It connects everything and every person in the world! It even connects those that are not in the world! It connects everything, and it is a transmitter of all the vibrational energy of all We are. It is the eternal way.

I, as the Creator God that I Am, continually send into the light matrix of the world a vibration, a networking, a transmitting of Holy Divine energy. I send all that I am, all that the heavens are, all that creates orderliness, and all that is beautiful into every person, every plant, every creation of any kind which has the vibration within it. This Holy Divine energy interfaces with, receives from, and contributes to this matrix of light that I speak of.

When you connect to Me as the mediator in your heart, your mind, and your strength as you are dealing with the light matrix of the world, then I transmit all that you give Me to the Father. In other words, first you bring Me into your awareness, and then you send your thoughts or vibrations to Me. I am always with you, and I am always one with God the Father; therefore, when I say to love God, I am saying then to also love Me, for I transmit all that you give to Me, in its purified perfection, to the Father.

The Divine, Personal Purification System

I would have you see this powerful, godly flow in your mind: When you bring all unto Me, I will stand between you and the fallen world; in other words, I will be with you in this matrix using My energy also and, as the great mediator between heaven and earth, I will purify all that I transmit to the Father! Then I present your heart, mind, and strength to the world in a pure form, receive back all the energies from everything that exists in the world, and purify these energies again before sending them back into you undistorted! This is the Divine Personal Purification System you use to filter out the negative patterns that exist within you and within the world so that you may interact with the world in a more pure manner.

In rough analogy, without this divine purification system it is like having a bad telephone connection where everything crackles and you have a difficult time really hearing what is said. Or it is like a television set that has poor reception, the sound is muffled and the picture is distorted so you cannot really see, it is all fuzzy. Yet, when you bring forward your awareness and your love for God first, and your pure intent and desire is to honor Father's law, we make things crystal-clear. You can then clearly hear what other people are saying, and others will also more clearly hear and understand you. When they also attune to Me, you will both hear in perfect clarity.

Do you now see why the first commandment must be first? Is it now clearer that when you don't recognize who you are, and when you don't put God first before others, you ignore Our Godhood? Then you cannot purely connect with others, but instead you pick up their unfiltered faults and negative, distorted, incorrect judgments. You also pick up the judgments towards you and from you that distort everything. When you come unto Me as the mediator between you and the world, negative distortions are filtered out and all false barriers are removed. You then smoothly connect with your divinity, with others, and with the world.

Yet, if others do not attune to Me in hearing you, they may not hear clearly, but you are still going to have a stronger communication and what you present to them is clear. They may have poor hearing because they have not yet come to Me that I may purify them, and they may not hear in this holy manner, but your communication is sent clearly. In return, when you come to view the world and know the world through Me, you see it for what it is. You can even bypass the world's false patterns that others have not yet discovered. You are also able to see into others as I do so that your love flows to them purely and unrestrained. You see into their holy, divine center even as they currently are in this mortal world. When you see through their mortal being, you see what is actually in their divine center.

Love the Father and Me First

You do not go into denial and say that they do not have problems, distortions, or misunderstandings. You can see that, yet you can also see their godliness that is underneath. It is the same for every circumstance and every situation. You see everything that exists in this world as I see it. When you love the Father and Me first, then you can purely love others. That is why the order is given in this manner. Yes, you practice your love with each other, but I say, Come and practice your love with Me directly. Let our friendship exist. Come to know Me, talk to Me, listen, ask, open up, and I will clear your ears so that you might hear. I will open up your eyes that you may see. When you are really willing to make these changes, and when you really let go of holding on to your own opinion, your own viewpoint, and you surrender all to Me so that you may see a new way, then I can clear your viewpoint and add purity to your understanding, to your will, and to your desires. You lose nothing by surrendering; you gain everything.

Gain Everything, Lose Nothing

When I surrendered all of My will to the Father, I lost nothing. Instead, by completely presenting everything to Him-letting go of everything that I could possibly have of My own desires-they were taken into Him and became one with His, and My power expanded beyond your ability to comprehend! It became infinite! My will was pure like unto the Father's, there was no restraint. The fullness of the Father was in Me. Even though He was in Me from the beginning in My physical body because I had been truly begotten of Him, I was not in the fullness of every portion of His Godhood. Yea, ALL that He had was given to Me the moment I let go, and it empowered Me to be able to go through the holy Atonement. This is what We ask of you.

Come! Come that you too may gain everything the Father has, and lose nothing. At first it may feel like you are losing and letting go of things, as if you may never have them again. And I say, yes, you must be willing to let them go as if you will never have them again. The magic is that it all comes back to you in glorious ways! You let go of your opinions about people, about yourself, about the world, about everything. You let go of attachments so that nothing matters, and eventually everything matters! But first it must not matter.

First you must say:

I let go of everything physical, all of my physical substances, everything that is material. I let go of it all with no attachments. I can walk without them.

If you are attached to these things and cannot let them go, then they have power over you. You willingly surrender your own power. You say: The food is stronger than I am. The tree is more powerful than I am. The elements are stronger than I am. Another person is better or more powerful than I am. It is not so! We are God-kind beings, and in and of ourselves we are infinite and powerful! You are a creator, but when you give up that power in any degree, you give it away to something else and you say: I cannot live without that possession. I cannot live without this person. I cannot live without that substance. At the same time, We desire that you are rich and abundant in friendships. and all physical things. You then put all physical things and the friendship of others in their proper order and place-not greater than God, not greater than you.

All In Its Proper Place

When you put your relationship with God first, everything that you let go of is put in its proper place. Physical things take third place as inferior or lesser than you are. You are equal to all beings and all beings are equal to you. God is first and greatest of all! Then the fullness of the power of God flows into you so that you may become as We are. I am here to walk beside you and pour into you as much of the power of God as your being can accept as you learn to work with Us.

Divine truth comes from the Light of Christ, the Holy Spirit's guidance, My Light, My presence, and My friendship with you. You come and relate to the world through Me. I must become your best friend, number one in your life above all else. Then all is put into orderliness.

If you still feel that you are stuck, you are holding onto and giving power to other things rather than purely loving God first. You cannot say: I love these people and I love God equally. You can love them as purely as God loves them, but you must turn and love God first. Then your love for another is purified through the matrix of light and you can connect fully to God's power that will illuminate and expand the godliness in you. This then allows you to relate to people in a more pure, godly way.

You Find Yourself

When you come to realize that many of your decisions, thoughts, and actions come from your worldly conditioning and you are willing to let those go-your purification can take place. Then you can start bringing divine holy ways into your being and allowing the mighty change to take place, even unto perfection. Your every decision, thought, and action become literally perfect. Remember, there is variety in perfection. You do not lose yourself; you find yourself! You do not lose the support of the resources of this world; they simply come into their proper order. Then they support you and you will use them for godly purpose, which is to glorify the Father purely, 100%.

Reverse the Deception

Now there are so many details in how this will work. There are many little parts of what it means to hold every aspect in your life secondary to God and to the divine being that you are. As I increasingly open up your eyes, you will become aware of many little things that you might be holding on to. It is a daily refinement. You recognize the deceptions and think: Oh, I am holding on to this now. I did not realize how attached I was to being a strong worker. I am being a strong worker and I like being kind, it is a good thing. But I was doing it for the approval of others. I was doing it to try to give value to myself. So it is backwards because you already have your value. Your works are not necessarily going to increase your value. You already are valuable. You have infinite value. You are of infinite worth. You are God-kind. You are a child of God, and your beautiful works come out of that.

Another aspect to consider is that when you are working very hard or studying very intently, you might be thinking: When I learn this, or when I work hard enough, or when I do this in my job, or when I get that raise, or when I get that promotion, then I am of worth. NO! When you put the holy order of loving God first, then you will come to know yourself and recognize your infinite worth. Yes, you will continue to do beautiful and good things. You will work diligently and in balance with all other aspects of your life because all is done in the holy order. You have the first things in first place, and second things in second place, and third things in third place. You know with a sweet and sure knowing that you are of infinite worth; and all your peace and good works come out of that.

Endless Source from God Himself

You come to then see people for who they are, and you do not give them greater or lesser power than the power that is within you. You also recognize that the greatest of all is God, and that you also shall receive an eternal reserve of power from God. Then you know you will never run out of power, capacity, or exceed your ability because you receive from that infinite, endless source from God Himself. When you really understand that we deliver all that we have to you, there is no limit. No circumstance can stand in your way. Is that not a comfort to you?

Throughout history miracles have happened because men first turned to God and loved Him! They opened up to realize who they were! As God poured the love back into them, they could see others for who they truly were. They knew the proper place of all objects. They knew the power of God would flow through them. Therefore, they could speak, command, and miracles happened! Is that not inviting to you? It should be inviting, intriguing, and enticing to you! However, you do not come to be with Me so that miracles can flow through you and that reputation follow you, although they will. You come because of our love, then love releases itself and through its power the miracles come. Miracles are then part of your life, the way you live. Miracles are constantly with you!

Show Me My Blocks

Ask that you may see, and daily I will continue to clear your vision. Ask that you relate to the world in a better way through Me. Come and bring your whole devotion, say: Show me, Lord and I will show you places where you block our love or where you turn your love first to another and then to God. To put all into pure holy order we will go first to God and then to others. All will be in its proper order and your love for others will be greater than it could be in any other way. The Love from God flows into you through Me; we are one. Love flows into you, guiding and filling you. Every situation or problem will move smoothly into a holier and greater way. The holy direction, the holy wisdom, the holy secret, and the holy way is to love God the Father first with all of your heart, might, mind and strength. Love Him with every aspect of your being, and then all else is added unto it. Then you love others, and you see them through Me. Let Me stand as the mediator between you and the heavens above, between you and the earth around you, and all that exists between you and every person, every creation, all the world and all circumstanc- es.

I Take You to the Father

Do not boldly go out without My friendship, feeling you can handle it on your own. Come and work with Me, love Me, and open up to Me that I may pour all the love I have into you, that you feel it, experience it, and know it, for it is the love of God the Father, and it is pure. Then shall your life be changed. Then shall you know Me even more so that our friendship grows until you are like Me. Then I take you fully to the Father. I take your hand-the hand that you have clasped in Mine-and I put it into the Father's hand.

We have walked side-by-side, hand-in-hand before. Let Me be your best friend. I say to you: You are My friend. Come, be aware of Me and let us develop this friendship as any friendship would be developed-let us communicate, share, converse, call frequently and talk a lot. Ask to know Me. Ask to know yourself. Let Me teach you how to love the Father as I love Him.

Can you even imagine the love that I have for Him? I would like you to not just imagine it; I would like you to experience it. I want you to feel in yourself the love I have for our Father in Heaven, for I do love Him purely. We are one, even as we invite you to be one with Us. Hold on to this understanding; continue to be in holy, prayerful, divine communication as your understanding grows.

Fully Move 100% Forward

Sometimes you have felt My presence, or I have been fully with you. Yea, you have begun to experience My friendship, comfort, presence, guidance, direction, and love. You have moved beyond just the Light of Christ. You have experienced the Holy Spirit within you in different ways, so you know what that is like. You have begun to experience Me. Let it be that you complete your work with the Holy Spirit. Then come, that we may actively, fully move 100%, forward with your one desire to glorify God and to love Him above all else with all your heart, might, mind, and strength, even as I do.

All else in your life shall be in perfect order. Thy life shall flow as smooth waters with joy in thy heart, peace in thy soul, and God's wisdom in thy way. Thy mind and My mind are as one; thy heart and My heart are as one. Pure comfort is thy life's course and ours is a friendship sweet. This is the course before you. Come, come, come, come and feel Me in your heart, and I feel you in Mine as we unify and become one with our God.

Knowing My Mind and Will

Let us assume that instead of reading My words, you are hearing them on what you call a 'conference call.' Others in different places would also have dialed in. The moment I put My intent upon My words, they flow instantly through My messenger to you through a system that allows sound to move as vibrations that you receive on your phones. We would all be communicating. There is only a slight delay between the time these words are spoken to when you hear them. This kind of communication, in many ways, is a miracle that you take for granted. You are used to it, so it is not amazing anymore. It is the way you live. It is standard. You expect it.

My Mind and Your Mind

I send forth vibrations in the very same manner, though not through technical equipment. I transmit messages and thoughts from My heart and My mind immediately to you through vibrations. There is no delay. There is only My transmitting, and I hear your prayers and your thoughts. I know you because your every action is transmitted to Me in the same manner. I receive them, so I know what is going on with you. I know you personally. I have much for you in My mind, but I cannot transmit it all to you in one moment because you cannot handle that many thoughts.

However, you can know My mind and will. You can know My thoughts about the situation and the circumstances that you are in. You can know My mind and how I am feeling about you.

I always feel positive about you, so when I reflect upon you, it is to know and understand what is going on inside of you, to understand why you are thinking the way you are, and then to determine the holy truths that would best suit you in each moment. I know many different ways that would be honorable for you to move forward that would bring you the greatest joy, peace, and learning in your life.

Even though you may not know all in My mind as you move forward, you benefit by knowing My mind and will for you in everything that's going on in your life. This knowing is vital and would have great value for you. It is important for you to have someone give you an opinion, a thought, or possibility a different point of view. Therefore, I bring forth several possibilities, not just one. You may hear distinct words in your mind. However, those are not necessarily more valuable than an impression I may bring to you.

It is possible for you to receive an impression in your physical body. You might stand up and move forward to act upon that impression before your conscious mind even knows why. What's important is that in that moment something is being transmitted to you. Yet, if hearing very distinct words is most important to you, that is what I will bring forth. If it is important that you have an overall impression, not just a thought or a sentence, I will deliver a whole group of connected ideas together, that will unload like a time-release capsule that comes into you- impression upon impression. I may have given you My viewpoint, My idea, and My mind at one moment, but it may come into your mind over several hours, days, or weeks. The way it comes to you does not really matter. Let go of any thought concerning whether or not one way is better than another. What you want are My ideas and My impressions to be guiding and directing you. Those are what I desire to give to you.

How I Teach

In some ways, this is the beginning of knowing Me. Occasionally when you have an idea, I will give you another one, and it is not dishonorable to follow your own thought. Sometimes I will give you an idea that is different from a consideration you have already brought forth in your own desires. I will purposely give you another possibility to learn how to follow your own thoughts if that is truly what you want to choose. If your choices are out of alignment with holy way, I may give you a strong impression to strengthen your understanding. However, at this point in your progression, it is seldom that you will consciously choose something out of alignment with Holy Truths.

For the most part, you move forward with a great desire to live in honor and integrity to the eternal principles as you understand them. Nevertheless, you may still have thoughts that lack full understanding. You may even understand a principle or an idea well, but you do not see how it necessarily applies in your life or where you could. apply it. If you could see where it applies, then the situation would move forward much more smoothly. Yet, even at a time when you choose a lesser way that may be out of alignment with principle, you've made your best choice with what you know.

I do not run back and forth, saying: Now I am going to be your friend. Now I am not. I constantly desire to be with you, to offer you My holy friendship and companionship. Often your own judgments of your lesser choices may cause you to temporarily separate from My Love. You make a judgment about yourself when you think: Oh... I should have done..... I sure did mess that up! So I say to you: Sometimes, yes, maybe there would have been a better way, and sometimes not.

Opening to My Love

Either way, I am still with you. Even though you may feel distant from Me, I am still very present with you. I do not leave or pull away because you've done something wrong. The feeling of distance seems to be true and has a stronger impulse than our newly felt connection. Remember, you are learning how to open up to My constant Love and acceptance so that My beautiful Love, thoughts, and wisdom can simply pour forth into you. Then you might know or feel those impressions and thoughts and know My mind and will.

You are opening the door and then closing it. Eventually you will leave it open at all times until there is no door at all—no wall, no separation—and you stand fully in My presence. I do not leave. I do not judge your circumstances or condemn by saying: Now, you are worthy of My presence; now you are not. You are worthy of My presence. How wonderful it is that you are open to receive it. We'll be simply practicing, doing it over and over again, practicing receiving and being aware of Me. Your awareness of My presence is what we are practicing.

Sometimes I may give you a very strong impression, which you may not recognize as such. You may think it is your own thought. In some ways that's very good because, in time, I want our thoughts to be united. When they are : united, though you may move forward in a variety of ways, we will be in agreement with whatever you choose. We will be in total agreement because your decision is not only perfectly in alignment with Holy principles and Truth, but also filled with Love.

Habits vs. Newness

Now My dear, precious one, as you practice each moment every day, your mind may or may not be aware that you could be making decisions based on the past that created a habit, an automatic response. Habits do help us retain a system of order, but habitual decisions are not 'in the moment' decisions. The most powerful decisions are those that are made in the moment because each circumstance is a little different.

Yet, even within the structure of habit, every moment is fresh and new and different. So each moment requires your best decision for the highest good, the best for all concerned. The situation may be very similar to those you have had before but it is never totally the same. For example, even though you may have been doing the same thing day after day at a certain time, in a certain way, and in a certain place, each moment has never been precisely the same. I say to you that having My perception will make each moment fresh and new so that you might know My mind and My will. That is what this chapter is about.

I see from a different perspective than you. When you and I stand in different places and look at the same object, you will see something different than what I see because of the slight difference in angle. Or, we may have different interpretations of a situation. But, when I give you My viewpoint and you give Me yours, we add our ideas together. Then we can increase and expand our awareness, which gives greater capacity to make the wisest, love-filled decision in the moment.

Making Decisions a New Way

Therefore, you do not want to make a decision by logic alone. Neither do you want to make a decision just by facts and figures or by your old ways of habit. You want the Love that we are to be the foundation and origin of all decisions that will pour forth and express themselves in eternal Truth. So, you have two perspectives at every moment. My perspective is much wider and fuller than yours, even infinite. I then add selected thoughts and awareness out of My Love for you. You add thoughts out of your love for Me, the Father and Mother, for others and for yourself.

Remember that when you respond out of love for another, but do not include a love for yourself, the love for the other and the result is diminished. When you respond out of love for yourself and love for others and love for God, it is enhanced the most. Then, whatever you may decide will bring forth the most love, the most power in that love, and the best result.

When you make what you feel is a good decision based on logic and reasoning, you may have some good results even if it didn't necessarily come from love. However, if the pure Love of God pours into you and touches, illuminates, and activates your love, and you make the very same decision, your results are magnificently different - more beautiful, more profound, more lasting, and with more influence. There is a dramatic difference! In other words, the thought and the action may be the same, but in that moment when you come with the fresh newness of love pouring forth, then what you do has life and vitality that will influence all concerned and bring forth the sweetest and most beautiful fruits out of any and all thoughts and activities. It is dramatically different.

Becoming Free of Stress

Previously, I have told you that when I am your constant companion, you will have learned how to open up and receive My Love without restraint. You then live a life that is stress-free. That does not mean you do not have circumstances that create problems, but your response to those problems are not of stress or worry. You may be curious how the situation will be resolved, so you are contemplative and use a wide variety of different stress-free responses. Then what you thought would have been a very stressful situation wasn't after all. I want you to begin to realize what I am offering. I am asking you to constantly receive the wisdom and the Love of the Father and Mother and of Me in your life. Why would there be any worry, stress, or strife if you not only comprehend fully but also open up your heart and let in Our Love and wisdom?

We will not restrain giving unto you in each moment what is necessary for the most powerful, beautiful, love-filled decisions to be present with you. Then why would you worry?

Let us imagine what it would be like in a very dangerous situation if I stood right next to you. You could see Me and touch Me. You would be clear about who I am. I promised I would not restrain any of My powers to handle any situation that we are in. At that moment would you worry? No, you really wouldn't! You might think: Well, this is a curious thing. I know that He has infinite power. How is He going to handle this? I am offering you an exercise in feeling Me closer to you that I want you to apply in every moment.

We do not need to wait for a crisis. We do not need to wait for the big problem. I say, let Me be with you; let My Light fill your thoughts. Let My Love fill your being in each fresh and new moment so that every decision comes forth from pure Love-My Love flowing into your love, into the decisions, the thoughts, and the possibilities. Love will flow into the actions you decide to take, the words you decide to speak-whatever they are-as we move forward. Then each moment is precious and full of love, peace, and joy with fruitful results.

My Love is Free

I do not restrain. A restraint happens from your unbelief. So continue to ask that we may remove this unbelief, that I may fill you. Then the reality of My power in you, My love for you, My deliverance in every possible way grows daily. Yes, there will be challenges. Yes, you will step into new and different circumstances that you have not experienced before, and it may feel like a stretch. However, when you fully realize that I am right there, no circumstance can be greater than you are when we are together. There need not be any stress or worry.

Every moment is a practice that we do over and over. Yesterday there was a level of light when you opened in a certain way. Today is another opportunity to again practice that opening, listening, receiving, and being aware of changes. Sometimes just slowing down a bit-just a breath's pause-allows a few moments for you to have awareness of My presence in you-My Love, your love- and to take note if you are just acting automatically on past patterns of habit or if you are developing new patterns. You may move it to a wise decision, but it would still not be filled with your love and My Love. When you receive Me, Love must be present in order for you to move forward in any choice or in any circumstance.

I am not just an idea. So often people just want My opinion by asking: If you'd just tell me what to do. Then I say: I do not want to just give you an opinion or an idea alone. I want to give you My Love that will add richness and fullness to the thought and decision that will empower the action so that the results may be fruitful in the sweetest, most beautiful manner for all concerned. I am asking that you would receive more than just My facts, information, or direction. When you have an idea that is filled with Love, then there is peace, and you are comforted.

The Second Comforter means that your life has a spiritual Love-based comfort about it. I would say that the way you think of that phrase is different than what I am offering which is much greater. I would have you experience My comfort, My peace, and My love. I would have you know Me. I do desire to pour forth My Love and My Thoughts into you, fresh each moment, each day.

Increase Your Awareness

I send My Love through these words at this moment. My Love is a perfect representation of all I am. It is the same as sending Me. At this moment I stand energetically right at your side with all of My Love. I also reside in you. Life from the God above, our Father in Heaven who has created you, exists in you because of the divinity, yea, because of Love and Holy Eternal Truth that flows constantly into you through Me from the Holy Father and the Divine Mother. Without this constant nourishment, you would not continue to be, but quickly would fall into deterioration. But you are sustained, and I would that you be more than sustained, so that you flourish, expand, abound in greatness and goodness in your life and improve every moment.

Find those moments when you can pause and open your conscious awareness, open your senses, so that your body begins to be aware and feel My presence. If you cannot feel My presence, it is because you are blocked by your own judgments usually toward yourself. I do not judge you the way the world judges. In fact, that word has been so contaminated that it has come to mean unrighteous judgment. So now, if I were to say that I judge you, you would put a false understanding upon it.

My Awareness of You

Yes, I am highly aware of you. In every possible way, I am aware of you and know every thought, every feeling, every emotion, and every reason. I know all of your history and know all that you have experienced and learned, not only in this earth-life, but all of your existence. I know where you will go. I see your divinity and perfection in the future. I have lived your life. I have complete compassion and perfect understanding for every circumstance, every feeling, and every thought, everything you are going through. I understand it all.

Then I may judge or know how you might move forward to the next step. So I greatly desire that you receive Me more by practicing. I desire you to know Me more than My thoughts, but by My presence, and My love. It must start with the receiving of My Love for you-the same as the perfect Father's Love-that allows even your love for Me to open up more. Yes, I know you love Me even more than you are aware of at this moment, and I say: Let the opening grow to let your love pour out. That lets My Love pour in; that lets our love mingle together, and we feel the delight in each other. It is exquisite and beyond words when the fullness of My Love and your love flow between us without any restraint.

Then again, all that I think, all that I know, and all that I am is within My Love. I offer that to you, as you also come and offer all that you are, all that you think, all that you feel, all that you know, and even all that you do not yet know. You offer that up as well, for all that you do not know is simply empty space that we will fill so that one day you will know. I so desire to walk with you in each fresh, new moment that together we may see each opportunity. Each moment brings forth newness of thought, expansion of ideas, more power in what we do, and a fullness and richness in each moment. I don't care what you are doing. If you are filled with My Love while you are preparing your food for the day, that food is more blessed, more alive, more vibrant, and more nutrient-giving to you because we Love each other.

At that moment, I might give you an impression concerning what things would be most enhancing to your body. You would also gather nutrition out of the Love, for the Love would feed the aliveness in your body, which would also tell you how to best feed your body that day with the most Holy food that you are selecting. I don't care what activity you are doing. So often, we get in a pattern where we don't come to that fresh newness in the moment. We act only out of routine. I think a rhythm and regularity to many things is beautiful. Yet, even in a rhythm, even in the same thing repeated, it is to be fresh and new.

Every Moment New and Fresh

I may say to you every morning, "Good morning" and "I love you". But what I said to you yesterday was yesterday's love for you. Today it is a fresh new Love. "Good morning," is this morning's Love for you. It is this very minute that I am relating to you. It isn't just a habit that I say every morning. I mean it. I am feeling it; it is present and aligned with Me at that moment. It can be the same with you. Not only is each day different in your life, but also each moment. No moment is a repeat of a previous one; it is fresh, and filled with Love, My power, and your power that truly leads you forward to a greater life, moment by moment. Your life becomes a blessing and a benefit to God, to Me, to yourself, to others, to the world, and ripples out. As others send out that Love beyond what you sent, it continues on and on and on.

Step out of just habit for habit's sake. Yes, repeating and systematizing is wonderful, and yet, keep these things alive so that you might truly act in a way which is most beneficial for that moment. Sometimes it will seem like exactly the same thing, but it is not the same because it is the moment's thing. In each moment you are filled with Love for all mankind and for all with whom you associate. You are filled with a love for all truth. You are filled with love for all activities that you do and for all situations which you may call problems. You realize it is an invitation to learn how to resolve problems always with a fresh newness. Oh, how thrilling that is; how absolutely thrilling. that is! I want you to know the joy of this life. I want you to feel the power of new, fresh, and alive. I want you to feel Me giving you My perspective.

Getting to know Me is the same as how you get to know people. You interact with them. I am here to interact with you. I am here to walk at your side. I am here to give you My opinion. I am here to give you My Love. I am here to fill you and to have you know Me. For, to be in My presence, you will know Me; you will feel Me; you will know My Love. You'll know My mind. You will know My will. You will know My specific caring for you. Do not diminish your love for yourself, My love for you, and others' love for you.

Don't Restrain Love At All

There are people who sincerely love another, and they pour their love forth to another. But the other person is thinking: I am not worthy of this. It cannot be about me. It is all about everyone else and not about me. The sincere giving of Love then becomes restrained, closed off. Let us not restrain Love in any way. Let us keep Love going in and out. Do not hold your love back from another and do not stop their love from coming into you. Do not withhold. My Love to you nor restrain your love for Me. Do not restrain love at all! That which is most life-giving is Love flowing freely. It must give its expression through Truth and through actions every moment of every day. Let it be that everything you decide is decided from Love, from My Love for you, from your love for Me, others, and for Truth.

Take this to task and practice it now. Would you come and have holy conversation with Me now? Would you open up your heart to find My Love? Do you feel it? However you feel it, it is right for you. Everyone expresses love differently. Open up your love, and let us talk about this. Let us talk about our closer association and of everything being fresh and new, of being filled with love in each moment. Let us talk about your being more open to receive, so that you are not only knowing My mind and will, but also feeling My Love in all that I bring forth to you. Let your love begin to pour into Me.

You can begin by thinking about someone you love because it warms your heart; you feel it. Yet, I have said that when you love God first, the love will flow perfectly into place. Yet again, it is all one eternal round. When you love another, you love Me. When you love Me, you love others. When you love Me and others, you really do have Love, respect, and honor for yourself. You do not need to wait for your perfection to have complete Love for yourself.

Loving others is the same. You can love them just as they are at this very moment in their eternal progression with all the things they know and all the things they don't know. They are like an empty container, waiting to be filled. How beautiful that there are people you do not know, for that is again a space for you to give and receive. It is the same with all situations that you call problems—a space, an invitation to learn and grow and become more loving. That is what every moment is. Let us do it together. Let Me be your Holy companion. Let us be aware of every decision, so that nothing is handled out of habit. Let us be aware of the freshness and the newness, the openness and the love of each moment. It will be a blessing to you.

What Desire Ye?

This is what I desire. Desire ye the same? Yes, I know that you do. Then let us exercise, communicate, and interface together. Practice it when you are in your quiet prayer in the morning. Practice it as you pause in the middle of the day, even when the day seems to be disruptive. That is when, more than ever, you pause . . . to feel Me. You step into a room, perhaps, where it is quiet, or you pause and just step away energetically from those around you, as if there is quiet in the silence around you. Just come in and ask: Lord, are you with me? Jesus, are you there? The answer comes: Yes, you know the answer. Just feel me.

Or perhaps it is at the end of the day. It is at the time when you draw closure. It is even in those days when your mind is busy with many things. Just know that I am right at your side, and My Love and My essence are in you also. I am constantly pouring that into you. There is no restraint. I do not block. In return you open and receive more and more. Let us practice; let us move forward together. Let Me be your friend. Let Me be your Holy companion. Let Me be your Second Comforter.

I am God. I am one with the Father. I know you perfectly and invite you to know Me, even as I know you, and we will walk up the holy course as good friends, yea, great companions together. Oh, we will be victorious on a joyful, loving, peaceful path regardless of circumstances because within us is divinity.

We are of God, the Father. He is Holy, Pure, and Infinite. You have that seed growing in you. Let us, you and I, care for that seed by nourishing it, watering it, pouring Light upon that holiness, and letting you grow into the fullness of divinity. So let us, again, walk the path together. Oh, take My words and let the Love that attends them fill you. Remember, I ask that you come and have a conversation with Me about anything. Particularly, that you may open and receive and practice this ability until there is no restraint, and My perfect Love flows freely into you. This, again, is My heart's greatest desire.

Your Personal Sphere of Self

Holy and precious one, My heart feels great gratitude for you and for your coming to be with Me in this way. My gratitude is full. I always have a spirit of gratitude, but it swells and opens more sweetly when those who know Me draw closer to Me, seeking for greater understanding. I have revealed many things about knowing Me personally in order that I may bring you closer into a constant companionship with Me. This is the closer association of which I speak, and it is different and much more expanded than the natural Light of Christ—My divine essence-that dwells with every person. Again, I say that knowing Me personally is like having a very close, good friend; that is the way our relationship, yours and mine, is to develop and increase.

Your Private Kingdom

Remember I know you perfectly; I have lived your life! My part does not need to increase. You need to know Me, and in order for this to be in its fullness, you need to know yourself. They go hand-in-hand. You can come to know Me, and at the very same time you also come to know yourself thoroughly and completely. I will reveal unto you all things, beginning with the realm and dimension that is your personal sphere of self, which is your private kingdom!

It is your own domain over which you have pure stewardship.

You have come out of the eternal God, the Father and Mother. They have given you a being-your divine individualized self. You have been provided with Divine, holy substance designed into all the different forms and expressions in this world that all come from the Holy Father, for He has created everything. From His vast and holy creation, He has distributed all that He has created to His children, for to God, there is nothing greater than His children! Their worlds are not created for the purpose of just creating worlds alone; they are worlds created for their children. He gives forth unto you everything that He has created. He has placed you here in this holy place.

You moved forward in different levels of progression before you came into this beautiful world. Now you are learning to master your physical form and to deal with the physical the physical world that surrounds you. These two are interrelated because you cannot get to know the world and all that is around you without also getting to know yourself—your own physical self. When you have complete mastery of your own physical body, you will also have mastery of the physical world around you.

You Are In Charge of Your Domain!

No one else is in charge of your domain and your own personal world. Even when you give your will to Us, We just add Our will to yours and send it back expanded! Then there is an amplifying of the power of your own ability to be the unique being that you are, growing and expanding into perfect wholeness. For even now, the perfected God- seed is in you, growing and developing in different stages. Yet, you personally are the one in charge of this pure, refined matter, this divine essence, in all its different expressions. You are likewise in charge of the divine Light that pours into you, through you, and out again into the world around you. You are completely in charge of the matter that forms your spirit being, your spirit body, and every part of you your own realm and dimension.

Your spirit-you is really in charge of every part of your physical world, your physical body, and your physical being. It is true that you have a strong spiritual interface with the world and everything around you because you are interconnected with everything. You feed into a field of energy that unites everyone. Yet you also have your own specific personal, individual energetic being—a realm, a dimension, a world that is just you, no interfacing. I have mentioned this before, but I will bring it forth again.

The progress comes from Our source, Our center, and it flows through certain patterns into you, then through you, and out into the world to relate to others. Yes, you do interact with other people through back and forth of energies, thoughts, emotions, feelings, and so forth. But the origin of creation starts from God, the Father and Mother—the Divine; then moves through the center of you and out. Yes, there is an exchange.

So creation does not begin outwardly. It does not begin with another person and move into you. Certainly, we can influence each other, and you do have a connection to the divine matrix which allows you to tap in and choose whether or not to respond to this pool of vibrations. You also have the capacity to choose and connect into what you may respond to and receive back. But when you yield. to the world and turn around that creative force so that creating begins outside of you, through your own being rather than from God, the natural divine creative powers have reversed.

Again, creation begins with God and flows into you in a divine pattern. I am part of that flow. I make sure that the Father's energy-pure Holy Love and Truth-is delivered into your being in total perfection. Once it enters your energy field, you are in charge of it. But it is My holy jurisdiction to deliver it to you, to protect it as it leaves the Father and travels into the center of your being. To assure that there is no interference in that divine connection coming from the Divine origin into you, I am set as its protector so that it is delivered purely.

Understanding Your Physical Being

Now, in your body is a variety of different patterns, many of which are distorted from their holy way. This is not always to be seen as negative. You may see it as a challenge or an opportunity for you to look deeply into your physical being over which you have jurisdiction. At this point in your life, you are learning to understand how to deal with this physical form and the energy that flows into and through it. You are learning how to take this Holy creative energy and direct it through your will to create greater orderliness.

I am also in a second position. First is to deliver the divine essence into your form. Next is to support you to have an understanding and a desire to create Holy orderliness in your physical being, your personal world, the energy around you, and the energy in your body. Your physical structure is the most Holy of all stewardships. I am here to support you like a good friend, sharing with you what I have learned. Then you practice. We will work together side-by-side as a good friend would do. I would never say: Move over. You are not doing a very good job. You are rather new at this compared to me. I will do it for you.

No, I would miss your ideas! So, I will step to the side and allow you to practice dealing with the energies of your physical being which you are learning to bring into orderliness. I will constantly hold a radiating light, the creative power the Father holds, to empower and illuminate your experience in working with your personal physical world and all of your being-your spirit self and your physical self. In this world of you, you are learning much as you interact in the world around you with other people and other objects. This is a good exercise in learning how your physical being and the world interface as you relate with other beings in their physical worlds, their spheres, and their domains.

Most Holy of All Stewardships

You are also learning how to relate and interface with those of Us who are the Divine Heavenly beings, who also know you perfectly. You are learning to deal with yourself and other individuals in a manner that you always honor who they are and do not cross over and interfere with their stewardships, which are very sacred. Many people struggle with this. They do not understand it because this world most often teaches you to either abandon your own stewardship or to subtly take control of another person's stewardship.

You have places in your life in which you are unaware of either abandoning an ability that you have a stewardship that is yours personally—or interfering with another person's stewardship. There is a pure refinement in this. Right now you are in a veiled state, so the fullness of the knowledge in your being is not completely open. Your subconscious and conscious minds are learning how to deal with this physical world around you and in you, as well as learning to connect to the greater knowledge in your spirit being. You are learning how to open up and bring your spirit being into complete harmony with your physical being. This is part of the exercise.

Restoring and Unifying

This is why I am here. Remember, if you are to know yourself completely then you must come to know Me, too. I will then teach you to know your whole self, not just your physical self. Often people think that to know themselves, they must study the outward physical being. But, even more important is coming to know your own internal self, your spirit being. That part is somewhat veiled from you, but the veil does not have to remain. It is placed there for the purpose of learning how to part it and remove it. This removal will result in the full conscious knowing that your physical self can become one with your spirit self, the part of you that was developed before coming to this earth. This is how your physical self will come to know your spirit being. I am here to unify both because everything in this world was divided at the time of the Fall.

You have entered into a world of division, which is a major component of the results of partaking of the tree of knowledge of good and evil that separates all things. It is a tree, or a nature, that does not hold pure Love. Law was separated out and left alone. Law cannot even interface with Truth without Holy, Divine Love to give it life, vitality, and flow. Law alone is rigid and not life-giving at all. In fact, it can take life. We are here to completely restore pure Love and, therefore, do away with the separation that has existed for centuries between Law and Love. Of all the things that you could unify—even greater than understanding the unification of principles and eternal truths is the unification of yourself, your spirit being with your physical being.

Unifying Physical and Spiritual

In many ways your spirit being has greater development than your physical being. You are learning to bring these two worlds together. In the meantime, your physical being is learning certain things necessary for your advancement. that your spirit being cannot know without the experience of physical. They do interface, so there is not a complete separation. However, they have not yet been unified to the point of being inseparable, perfectly united and harmonious like a good marriage, which keeps individuality and also blends and weaves together in harmony. That creates beautiful synergy, expansion, and an increase of joy and love. This is a great enhancement. Your spirit being and your physical being can have the same relationship. They are both teaching each other. Both need each other to learn how to communicate and know each other.

Again, it is part of my great work as a friend. It is not just by assignment or task with the position. If I came out of duty alone, I could not succeed. I am here because I know. you, and I Love you. I am here because I really am your friend. We are reestablishing the friendship that you and I had in the world before we came here. My spirit and your spirit have known each other perfectly. You are in this world a world of separation—to establish again that unity, to know yourself, and to bring your spirit self and your physical self together. It will require our getting to be pure friends again, for you getting to know Me while you are in your physical being. Your physical and spiritual body intimately tie in together.

Your Time Is Precious

It takes time. However, time is a strange creature. You have experienced those times when you have been so involved and absorbed with something that you are amazed when an hour or even many hours have passed. It seemed like such a short period of time. Other times it seems as if the long, drawn out moments will never pass. It feels as if you have been here forever. So time—even though it can be measured with the clock's ticking and the measuring of days on the calendar—does not really relate to what is happening.

Time is just like a container that you may fill with something of very little value and worth, or you can fill it with something that is of great worth. So in this precious time that you have, in other words, in this container called life, each moment is an opportunity that you may pour rich abundance into it so that each moment is full and meaningful. You understand that when you eat a meal, for example, it might have very little nutrition in it. Another meal of the same volume could be very highly packed in nutrients, so one is detrimental and the other is of great worth to you.

It is the same with time. You can fill your time with nutrient rich experiences, decisions, actions, feelings, and emotions. They can all be life building and healthy. They can support you and improve your healthy life in the wholeness of a healthy physical and spiritual being. So, when I invite you to come and be with Me, sometimes you think you do not have time. Yes, you do! What I want is a feeling of fullness when we are together, regardless of how that might be measured in minutes or days. Receiving My Love allows you to feel the full capacity which each moment can hold. Come.

Receive My Love

Now I am going to mention this again and again because it is vital to receive My Love. To receive My Love, you begin to know Me. To receive My Love, you will come to know yourself without any criticism and with complete acceptance and enjoyment. To receive My Love means that the divine, holy, creative force from the Father may flow forth into you in greater abundance, allowing that moment in time to not only be full but also give you capacity to expand your container so that the next time we are together there is even greater capacity in you to receive. Even though the minutes may tick by in the same amount as yesterday or last year, you have expanded your container's capacity.

You have a container of time and a container of your own. divine self. They both work together and both allow the other to be rich and full. When that which you partake of in the linear time is full and rich, it can be very powerful and will support your ability to pour more into the essence, the sphere, the dominion of your own being. To illustrate, you have two light bulbs of the same size, but one illuminates much more powerfully than the other.

So at this very moment the size of the container that you have right now, your being, can be filled with divine holy Love and Light essence, which radiates out strongly and powerfully to feed the divine light that has already been. given to you. Then it goes out into the greater matrix that we all are a part of, and it makes a contribution to others in this world. I am the mediator. I am part of the direction of all the forces that interface with each other—the soup, the matrix, the substance—that are interfacing with and between all beings. All creation is my essence, my Light, and I connect it all. Therefore, when you feed into that Light and receive back, you have opportunity to then connect with Me.

World's Patterns vs. Heaven's Love

When that which is of the world is given to you through the matrix, it is offering up everyone's different creations. I am here to deliver, and I allow you to interface and have a connection to all other individuals, all creation, and all objects. I also bring forth pure connection from the holy Mother and Father to you. You have the variety of everyone else's creation to deal with. Some are good and orderly, and some are not as orderly. That is the puzzle. That is the great challenge. That is the lesson to be learned. That is the project before you, and yet you have pure Light, holy truth, divine Love that pours into you clean and pure. I deliver that to you. So take this Light, and let it illuminate you in its pure, holy form and fill you rather than following the patterns that exist in you that often interface with the world's confusion, misunderstandings, and distortions.

Instead of letting the world influence the pure Light that I give to you, let that Light influence the energy patterns in your physical body. This is the holy path of creation coming from divine. I deliver it to you. So the challenge is learning to hear, to receive, to see, to touch, and to connect with the Holy Love that I offer-to hear the pure tones and let those pure tones that I deliver to you teach the sounds of your physical being that need to be brought into tune, for they are sometimes not in tune. You can either have the frequency of the Light and Love that I give you or you can convert it to be like the pattern that is already in your physical being.

You have the ability to choose. You could have My energy teach your physical being, which requires you to practice and exercise yourself in the skill of being in tune and listening to My vibration, which is My message of pure, holy Love, Light, and truth. However, your normal pattern is listening to the world. You let that outward influence determine how you are going to act, what you are going to choose, think, be taught, or even be influenced by. That outward influence will take over your decision. We are going to reverse that. You let the greater come from the holy, divine essence which I deliver to you, and you practice hearing me, more than just words. That is why meditation and quiet stillness work.

Knowing Christ Personally - The Personal Invitation

Yes, it is going back to the topic of time. Practicing does take some time. However, I say to you, you could have a very powerful moment of being so determined, so focused upon connecting to the holy, divine Light that in a short period of linear minutes, you could receive a dynamic, profound realization-a strong connection-from which your whole being begins to be educated. Part of this connecting is surrendering and opening up and letting go of all the patterns that you have been taught in this world to think and plan things beforehand. To open up, step into neutral and say: I do not know. I am going to be here and just listen with my whole being to the vibration from the holy divine God, the Father and my Savior.

Be Still and Feel

I can deliver much in the quiet moments. "Be still and know God" is not just know about Him but know Him perfectly, intimately, deeply, richly, and interface energetically with divine to know Me and the Father. Your spirit being has a pure, deep desire and love for Me and also a desire that we are one, that we are unified. You have always had this great desire to be like your holy parents. When you still yourself and listen, then that desire, just the desire alone, makes you ready to more fully receive the Love we have to give. This Love holds Our being, Our wholeness of who We are. We send the vibration of Ourselves into you. Therefore, Our energy, which I have delivered, exists in you. I am in you in the form and expression of Light that reflects everything I am-My thoughts, My will, My heart because I want you to know Me intimately.

So, you need to put aside thinking that you do not have enough time or that this process will take hours. I delight when we have that much time. Yes, I know you have things you do need to accomplish, but please, take as much time as you can take with Me. What is more important than putting aside ten minutes, thirty minutes, or two hours? What is important is what we do in that time, in that precious container. First, just take a few moments. and say: Oh, my spirit, I know you can hear. (The conscious mind of your physical being is speaking to your spirit.) Open up and let me feel thy pure love and desire to be one with my holy parents. Then you may turn to Me: Help me, Lord, that You might strengthen my spirit and our communication, so that I-in my physical being-can more fully experience and feel the desire and love that my spirit being has to be one with You. Help Me bring that love in to burn deep in my physical being, so that I can feel the power and the love of my spirit, who so perfectly loves me.

These prayers are to help you remember how much I love you and that we may interface as the holy family that we literally are. I am of the Father and so are you. Therefore, we are brothers and sisters together, siblings. Yes, I am further along, and yes, I am also the only begotten in the physical world; nevertheless, we are of the same. Above all, we are friends. Your spirit does know Me and loves Me perfectly. I know you perfectly, and I want you to feel that again.

Yes, use your conscious mind to think these thoughts and also to bring forth direction and decision to connect your mind to your spirit and then direct us forward to the holy communication as frequently as you can. There is something about the power of rhythm and repetition. For example, let us say that you spend ten minutes with Me every day. That really is not a lot of time, but those ten minutes are focused, concentrated, and full. Right away your intention is to reach deep into your own self to the love and the desire that is there. You ask Me with all sincerity: Please be with Me now to illuminate this communication with my own self, to raise up out of my being and feel in my physical body the great love that I have for the heavens, for the Father and Mother. Help Me, Lord, to feel my love for You.

Building a Relationship with the Lord

Let us take full advantage of this precious time that we have. Let the beautiful love that is in you direct that time I also will direct it—as the pure spirit part of you intertwines with the part of Me that perfectly knows how to interface—yea, we do know each other—then in your physical being you may know yourself and Me. Each day there can be more, for it does multiply. Some days you have more time. That is good, but if you continually reduce the time, there will be a diminishing of returns, or when you regularly give only one small moment to our holy, beautiful connection, you will not have enough empowerment for each day.

Now I am not saying one minute cannot be absolutely full, but over time just one minute will not build in power as it would if we had more time. So allow at least some time every day. That is the rhythm that I speak of, the consistency for at least a few moments every day, as many minutes as you can while increasing the time.

The Number 10 is Powerful

There is something very powerful about the number ten. It is the number of increase. It is the first number that has two digits, and therefore, it has power. So if you spend nine minutes, it is not going to be the same as ten. I am literally telling you right now there is something quite different between nine minutes and ten minutes every day. When you give ten minutes, there will be a multiplying effect. It is not just a minute more because a compounding takes place. So I say to you, ten minutes is much more powerful than nine, and twenty minutes would be even more powerful. At least make ten the minimum, the absolute minimum, and it will build. Oh, my precious ones, how much I would desire you to have more and that you desire this, too.

Bring Me In

I realize that you experience a variety of daily obligations. So on some days it would not be possible to give an hour or two, but on other days it would be. Oh, I would invite you to experience more. Remember, the 10-minute minimum is the tipping point where the connection begins to actually accelerate. Do not let a day go by without at least ten precious, focused, holy-filled moments for us to be together. When you say that you do not have more time, you will create that reality, but it simply is not so. I want you to feel My Love. I want you to again remember and expeperience the friendship we already have and that I do so love you. Let those words in; hear them singularly as if I stood before you, looking deeply into your eyes. No one else is listening. It is just you and me.

Feel My presence before you right now. Feel My Love and Light in you. I am right inside you. Feel My Love pouring into you, swelling inside you, and pouring back out into Me. I am in you. I am right before you and at your side. You are in Me. Your energy flows out. Experience that. The flow, the closeness, and the oneness actually already exists. I am right here. I have already sealed you in My heart—every part of you. I cannot let go of you. You are sealed right there. Now open and seal Me in your heart. Be as I am in you and you in Me. My precious one, I am so here. Do not let any other thought interfere that says: I am not by you—for it is not true. I am your friend. I am here to work with you on the project of Godly, holy creative life in you.

The divinity of God flows in a holy pattern through Me in through your spirit and into this physical being of yours, then it becomes your holy domain, your holy place which you are perfectly in stewardship over. Come to know the greatness and let that greatness grow and fill the container of your physical world, your personal physical self. Then the sweetness of your relationship to the rest of the world just falls naturally into place.

You begin to see Me and everyone else, too, with different eyes. Nothing but joy, love, peace, and creative forces abound everywhere. All that has been distorted becomes orderly; all that was in scarcity is full and abundant. We are just opening to create it to be in the fullness of this mortal world. It begins with your personal world and your physical body. I reverence you. I honor you. This is quite the journey here. I understand that it is filled with challenges. I am with you so that we may walk together in this life. You are not alone. You have never been abandoned. Come to know that. Feel Me and know Me. I am your friend. You are sealed in My heart forever.
